JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
McGovern-Kennedy in 1972?
here are the inside facts

A 20—ACRE SITE (see arrows) southwest of the interchange of Interstate 55 and 57 has been offered to the highway patrol by the City of Sikeston as the location for the patrol's new Troop E headquarters. The site is one of several in Sikeston being inspected by patrol officials. It offers easy access to both interstate highways and, like the other sites, free installation by the city of all utilities.

McGovern Sweeps To Brink Of Demo Nomination Today

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, staging a dramatic demonstration of political power, swept to the brink of the Democratic presidential nomination today in a marathon opening session of his party's national convention that ended just before dawn.

McGovern's display of organizational muscle came when he recaptured 151 disputed California delegates at the peak of a tumultuous session.

The South Dakota senator claimed his long, uphill battle was near success and that victory in Wednesday night's nominating session is "within our grasp."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, leader of the coalition of McGovern rivals that lost the crucial California vote, declined to concede the nomination. But he admitted that McGovern, "had quite a night" and promised to say more in the morning.

But with victory within reach in the convention's opening session, the McGovern camp failed in an effort to engineer a compromise to seat both Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and a heavily pro-McGovern group of Illinois challengers.

The convention then voted to oust the powerful Chicago mayor in a move expected to have far-reaching consequences both throughout the party and in its fall campaign for the White House in the politically crucial state of Illinois.

Party leaders had feared the opening night session would run into the daylight hours.

But the showdown votes on California and Illinois were followed by a series of compromises that quickly brought the opening session to a close a few minutes before 5 a.m. EDT.

In terms of the party's presidential fight, the California test was crucial, perhaps decisive.

According to an Associated Press count, addition of the 151 California votes brought McGovern within about 25 votes of a first-ballot nomination with other uncommitted delegates expected to move his way.

It took two votes, both decided by larger than expected margins, to settle the California credentials dispute.

For New Madrid Medical Team

Expense Money Must Be Raised

NEW MADRID — Before a medical team of two doctors, two nurses and a laboratory technician will be in practice here through assignment by the National Health Service Corps, a commitment to underwrite expenses for approximately six months must be made to the agency by a sponsoring organization.

These remarks were made by Sam L. Hunter Jr., member of the Chamber of Commerce medical committee, to a group meeting with the chamber to coordinate plans for reactivation of the Missouri Community Betterment program.

The exact amount of money needed has not been determined , but after consulting with five area clinic business managers, it is estimated between $15,000 and $20,000 will be required.

This money is to provide office facilities for the team, equipment, in addition to what the Chamber owns, medical and office supplies and salaries for office personnel.

The six-month period is estimated to be the time required for the practice to become self-sustaining. Salaries are paid by NHSC for the medical team, which will charge fees as if in private practice. The money used to subsidize the medical facilities would be paid back from fees collected.

Hunter and Bruce Allen, a member of the chamber's board of directors and general manager of Noranda Aluminum, Inc., will meet this week with NHCS officials in Kansas City to obtain more information on the required commitment.

Speaking of the critical need for medical facilities in New Madrid, F.M. Baird, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said, " It is absolutely necessary that we obtain these medical facilities if our town is to grow and progress.

"New residents do not want to locate in a community where medical services are not available," he said, in stressing the importance in obtaining the medical team.

The 24 persons, representing 15 organizations, agreed to organize the rally support to secure the funds necessary to establish the medical facilities.

Noranda and Bank of New Madrid pledged to contribute an amount equal to the total raised in the community.

In other matters pertaining to the Missouri Community Betterment program, the group will meet July 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the community building to discuss and coordinate plans for reactivation of the program with Guy Park Krause, director of MCB and Jerry Shirley, MCB, southeast area specialist of Jefferson City.

The Rev. Edward E. Wolfe, pastor of the Baptist Church, accepted tentative chairmanship of the program.

Injuries Fatal To Motorist

A Fisk youth was injured Monday and a St. Louis man died of injuries suffered in an Independence Day auto crash, the highway patrol reported this morning.

James Dale Pope, 14, of Fisk was taken to a Poplar Bluff hospital with a possible broken neck after the motorcycle he was riding crashed into a pickup truck driven by Eva Edith Jones, 37, of Sturdivant. The accident occurred at 3 p.m. on Highway 60 at Fisk.

Marvin L. Pease, 44, of St. Louis died Monday at Perry County Hospital in Perryville of injuries sustained in a one-car accident on a gravel road

Humphrey Withdraws, Releases Delegates

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, his last hope of winning the Democratic presidential nomination gone, stepped aside today and withdrew from the race.

Humphrey said he will not let himself be nominated at the Democratic National Convention, and he released his delegates to vote as they wish.

Humphrey, reading from a brief statement at a news conference, dropped out of the race a few hours after Sen. George McGovern scored a striking triumph and reclaimed 151 contested California delegates in a floor fight at the convention.

Humphrey did not say whether he would support McGovern, an old friend, for the nomination.

"My withdrawal from the presidential race is a withdrawal of candidacy only," the Minnesota senator said. "It is not a withdrawal of spirit or of determination to continue the battle I have waged all my public life on behalf of those who had no voice."

The Humphrey statement came after the Minnesota senator's press aide, Walter Wurfel, announced the withdrawal in an off-handed manner to newsmen awaiting the candidate's statement.

Humphrey's statement was seen as a move to unify the Democratic party which had been torn by sometimes bitter disputes between McGovern supporters and the backers of Humphrey and other candidates.

Humphrey has said consistently he will support and work hard for McGovern if the South Dakota senator wins the nomination.

Humphrey's withdrawal appeared to end his 12-year quest for the presidency. He first sought the party's nomination in 1960 but lost to John F. Kennedy.

He served as vice president under Lyndon B. Johnson and was the party's nominee in 1968, losing narrowly to President Nixon.

The former vice president appeared before newsmen and television cameras with Mrs. Humphrey at his side and with other members of his family standing behind.

He said he would continue to work for "justice and compassion," and declared he had waged a good battle within the rules of the game."

There were tears in his eyes as he bowed out of what is almost certainly his "last hurrah."

Humphrey announced his withdrawal after spending most of the morning asleep in his hotel room. He had stayed up most of the night, watching on television as the convention battled over the California delegation question.

Aides said he arose at 10:15 a.m., ate breakfast and conferred with his top campaign aides.

Food Fund Project To Be Discussed

BENTON — At 2 p.m. Thursday Scott County Court will hear a proposal concerning the possibility of appropriating funds for the delivery of commodities to persons unable to pick them up.

The Emergency Food and Medical Services Program of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation ended its food delivery program on June 30 for lack of federally appropriated funds.

Abram Hirschowitz of Oran, a county chairman of Volunteers Against Hunger, said all county chairmen and members of Missouri Association for Social Welfare are urged to attend the session at the county courtroom in the courthouse at Benton.

Lilbourn To Vote On Revenue Bond

LILBOURN -- Aug. 1 has been set for a special $94,000 revenue bond referendum. If approved by the voters, the funds will be used to repay a $94,000 Farmers Home Administration loan for extension and improvement of the water system.

Approval of the issue will not increase property taxes, but bonds will be paid off by revenue received from water system operation.

The city is also expecting approval of a grant from the Economic Development Administration for further water system improvements and extensions for a total estimated cost of $160,000.

Polls will be open from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m. in the old gymnasium in the east ward and in the city hall in the west ward.

East ward judges and clerks are Ted Mauk and P. B. Hawkins, judges, and Hattie Collier and Katherine Crosno, clerks; west ward, Ronnie Baker and Curtis Cross, judges, and Myrtle Ice and Jean Shamburger, clerks.

Plan Ahead

Take The Pet Along

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of three articles dealing with summer vacations. If leaving your pooch at home is akin to leaving your spouse at home, then we offer suggestions for taking him (the pet), too. Also included are pointers for those who would rather leave their animal kingdom behind.

By BARBARA HARRIS

After taking all necessary precautions to safeguard your home and its contents while on vacation, what are you going to do with the family pet?

Unless your pets are horses or hogs, consider taking that dog or cat with you. All it takes is planning and a little common sense and courtesy.

Big hotel and motel chains are usually friendly toward pet- owning travelers. In fact, many have kennels right on the premises. Of course, it is up to you, the pet's family, to check each stop in advance.

If camping is your thing, the regular camping guide books tell you which camping grounds and parks allow pets and under what conditions.

Once you have discovered where your pet will be accepted, be sure to make necessary arrangements ahead of time.

Be sure all inoculations are up to date. This includes rabies and distemper shots. Have a health certificate filled out by your veterinarian in case authorities request one. This is an especially good idea if you plan to cross any international boundaries.

Make all of your motel and hotel reservations ahead of time. This assures you and your pet of a good night's sleep.

If your animal is prone to be sick while traveling, be sure to have the proper medication on hand. Again, check ahead of time with your veterinarian about this.

Once you are ready to hit the road, take along the necessary food (especially if your pet is a fussy eater), grooming materials and leash. If the trip is to be a long one by car, carry a water dish and supply of water where you can get to them at any time.

When you arrive, watch your pet and be sure he does not "get into anything." Many hotels and motels use strong poisons to control pests. If you are camping, don't let your pet mingle with other animals at the campsite. You don't know where other animals have been or what diseases they may carry. Protect your pet from wild animals which could carry rabies.

Above all, don't impose your pet on other people — they may be on vacation to get away from their next door neighbor's unruly pet.

Respect restrictions against animals in restaurants and food markets. And don't take the laws out on waitresses or store clerks. They aren't the ones who made the laws.

Be prepared to pay for any damage your pet may do. He is on vacation, too, and it could well be he will get a rambunctious streak and, heaven knows, what could come of that!

Don't leave your pet alone in a motel room to cry and disturb other vacationers. Keep him with you as much as possible. Remember, he is a long way from home and doesn't know what the word "vacation" means. He probably will be frightened, so keep him reassured.

If you decide you would rather not face the hassles of traveling with your pet, be sure to make an appointment at a local kennel to be sure they will have room for your pet. Have the animal's health checked before you leave and take care of any problems while you are still there to comfort your pet.

If you leave your pet with friends, the above rules still apply and, unless you are paying your friends to board your pet, be sure to leave a good supply of pet food and other necessities with them.

If you only plan ahead and with your pet in mind, you both will have a pleasant vacation.

A LIVING MEMORIAL

Every 24 hours almost three times your entire body weight in water and salts circulates through the human kidneys, whose 140 miles of filters and tubes perform a life- sustaining job of screening out the impurities and poisons lurking in the bloodstream.

Yet, for four percent of the world's population — and in the U.S. alone this year 8 million Americans — the kidneys won't work. Of those 8 million, 25,000 will die. Many, if not most of them, are in the prime of life, and could well be saved.

There is, first of all, the hope of hemodialysis, the cleansing of the bloodstream through an artificial kidney machine. There is also the transplantation of a healthy, donor kidney. You only need one.

One well- known victim of kidney failure was the late Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. Undersecretary- General for Political Affairs and peace- maker extraordinary (in the Middle East ,the Congo, Kashmir and Cyprus). Dr. Bunche died last December of a stroke.

What only a very few people knew, according to his friend, the former U.N. Secretary- General U Thant, was that the Nobel Laureate spent the last six months of his life hooked up to one of those artificial kidney machines. "Ralph received very intensive, very skillful care and realized how dreadfully expensive the whole thing was."

(According to Medical World News, only one of four Americans can afford to pay the $6-12,000 a year for hemodialysis; fewer still can pay for a $25,000 transplant.)

Bunche and Thant talked about the need for more trained physicians and the kind of research that would ultimately bring down the cost of both treatment and transplant to "affordable levels."

U Thant and several U.N. Ambassadors — including our own, George Bush — and a number of prominent Americans, have just set up a "Living memorial" to their friend, Dr. Bunche. They are seeking $2 million — $1 million of which will pay for a kidney intensive care unit at the famous New York Hospital — Cornell Medical Center, one of the world's pioneer in kidney transplants and renal dialysis. the other million would underwrite an International Fellowship Program that will bring to New York City physicians and nurses from around the globe for the most advanced training in kidney treatment. Both pavillion and fellowship programs would bear Ralph J. Bunche's name.

So far they have raised more than $300,000. U Thant will also welcome the very smallest donations — tax- deductible, of course — at his office at room 3853 at the United Nations, New York 10017. The checks should be made out to The Ralph Bunche Memorial.

This is one U.N. project that absolutely nobody will argue about.

GOVERNMENT
NOT THE ANSWER

To hear those spenders tell it, the United States has scandalously neglected "public needs" while gorging itself on consumer goods.

Such is the lengthy argument used some years ago by Harvard's John Kenneth Galbraith, revived in a recent dispute over pollution and environment, and continuously preached in legislative arguments here in Missouri as well as elsewhere.

On the presentation of the "needs" contingent , we have shamefully neglected out outlays on government services while blowing private dollars on a ravished environment, high- powered cars, color TV sets and assorted trivia.

A somewhat different view of the matter is provided by a statistical rundown in the Wall Street Journal, which shows that "public needs" have been gobbling up an increasing portion of the national substance at the expense of private consumers.

As portrayed in the Journal's figures, indeed, the growth of government at every level in our society has been truly staggering -- suggesting it is time for sharp curtailment of public spending and not its increase.

Since 1929, for example, the gross national product of the United States has increased tenfold -- from $103 billion to more than $1 trillion -- for an impressive record of growth. But during the same span total government spending has increased by a cool 4,000 per cent -- from $8.5 billion to $233.1 billion. Put another way, while the GNP has increased 10 times, government outlays have increased 27 times.

Another method of examining the question is to note the number of people on public payrolls compared to those in private employment. In 1929 there were some 28,274,000 American in private employment, and by 1971 this figure had risen to 57,836,000. In the same span, what has happened to government jobs? In 1929 there were 3,065,000 people on government payrolls. Last year there were 12,853,000. Private employment has gone up 104 per cent -- government employment 319 per cent.

The same thing holds for the nation's welfare population. Since 1960 the U.S. population has increased by 15 per cent-- but the number of people on welfare has increased by more than 100 per cent, and now stands at more than 14 million.

Quite clearly the "public" and therefore non-productive sector of our society is growing by leaps and bounds at the expense of the privates and productive part. In light of that profligate record, inadequate government services quite plainly reflect the fact that government is an inadequate instrument for getting things done.

Representative Barry M. Goldwater, Jr., of California stated: "The question of amnesty is much greater than elimination of penalties for those who sought to evade the draft. The question ... involves the very fabric of the enforcement of law and order in America." Then the Congressional Record reprinted an editorial from KNBC television in Los Angeles which went on to say: "We feel that granting amnesty without any penalties would be encouraging people to select which laws they want too support and which they don't. We think that's an impossible way to run a republic.

SELF-TRANSFUSION
OF BLOOD

The worst hazards of blood transfusion during surgery may now be avoided by the simple expedient of using the patient's own blood instead of someone else's. So- called autologous transfusion involves withdrawing a pint of blood from the patient before surgery, and then giving him large intravenous doses of iron and other nutrients to make up for the loss. If more than one unit of blood is considered necessary for the operation, as many as three or four units may be withdrawn, followed by the blood- feeding regimen, so long as the blood will not be more than three weeks old when it is returned to its donor.

The chief advantage of self- transfusion is that it eliminates the risk of hepatitis. An estimated 30,000 Americans a year contract transfusion- connected hepatitis, and 1,500 or more of them die of the disease, according to a 1970 National Research Council study. Another risk eliminated would be that of the incompatibility of blood cells.

While not every candidate for surgery would be eligible for the procedure, it nevertheless presents at this time the most hopeful prospect for blood-banking improvement. Since two- thirds of all transfusions are administered during and after surgery, wider acceptance of autologous transfusion would greatly reduce the pressure on the common store of blood for emergency cases.

The Association of American Blood Banks has appointed a committee, headed by Dr. Daniel Rosenstein of San Antonio, Texas, to study autologous transfusion and develop guidelines on managing the procedure for the use of the medical profession. The committee will report on its study at an international transfusion congress to be held in Washington later this summer. Some doctors are so enthusiastic about the blood - feeding possibilities that they believe it can eliminate the necessity of transfusing any blood at all in some cases. "Bloodless surgery" has proved a godsend for members of Jehovah's Witnesses, whose religion forbids the transfer of blood from one person to another.

During a hike in the woods a troop of boy scouts came across an abandoned section of railroad track. Each, in turn, tried walking the rails but eventually lost his balance and tumbled off.

Suddenly two of the boys, after considerable whispering, offered to bet that they could both walk the entire length of the track without falling off. Challenged to make good their boast, the two boys jumped up on opposite rails, extended a hand to balance each other, and walked the entire section of track with no difficulty whatever.

There, in a nutshell, is the principle of modern business and community living. The day of the hermit and lone wolf are gone forever. We do things better, we produce more, and we live better by helping each other. The fellow who lends a helping hand benefits himself at the same time as he helps the other fellow.

The reverse is also true. When we don't help each other, when we don't cooperate, the whole system starts to rattle and shake.

The difference between a good company and a poor one, an effective department and an inefficient one, is often reflected in the cooperation, or lack of it, among the people who work there. When people help each other, freely and voluntarily, there's a spirit of teamwork that makes a department or company really go — a pleasure to be associated with. When there's no cooperation — no spirit of the helping hand freely given — what might have been pleasant jobs become grudging chores.

Do you recall when Edmund Hillary and his native guide, Tenzing, made their historic climb of Mt. Everest? Coming down from the peak Hillary suddenly lost his footing. Tenzing held the line taut and kept them both from falling by digging his ax into the ice. Later Tenzing refused any special credit for saving Hillary's life; he considered it a routine part of the job. As he put it: "Mountain climbers always help each other."

Should the rest of us be any different?

DOWD'S OPPORTUNISM

Edward Dowd, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, has gone on record in opposition to a right too work law in Missouri.

The pro- labor stand was announced during an address in May before a Carpenter's union district council meeting.

In his address, Mr. Dowd said:

"Always latent in Missouri is the chance that labor's enemies will propose a 'right to work' law. Such a law ... would result in the death of unions as we know them today, and must never be allowed to become law in Missouri. I am totally against such a law, and if it is introduced in the legislature of Missouri, I will use the full power of my office to defeat it. If it passed over my opposition, I will veto it."

Mr. Dowd then went on to endorse the right of public employees to join unions and to strike; to endorse creation of a state Department of Labor; to back a state minimum wage law; and several other labor "goodies."

While at one time we had thought highly of Mr. Dowd as a candidate, we now believe he should be ruled out of serious contention.

A "right to work" law is one of the state's most crying needs.

It would prevent the unions from forcing unwilling workers to pay union dues in exchange for the privilege of working for a given industry.

It would put Missouri back in the national market for economic development, at a time when the state is trying without much success to compete for new jobs with states which have right to work laws.

It would help restore the balance between labor and management which, in the last three decades, has tipped decisively and, we might add, disastrously, in favor of the unions.

Mr. Dowd's political opportunism we do not need in Missouri.

OUR ALLIES STILL FIGHT

A strike force of South Vietnamese suddenly hit the communist troops gathered north of Hue for a massive assault on the old capital. The idea was to disrupt enemy preparations for the attack and relieve the pressure on the embattled city. Only time will measure the success of the action of the South Vietnamese in the swirling warfare in Indochina but we can look upon the strike by our allies as evidence that they are not to be written off yet. Despite the propaganda of the left-wing and the cries of the pessimists, our brave allies still are imbued with the spirit of the offense, even under the weight of the great North Vietnamese offensive.

Many people in this country and elsewhere in the world went into panic and a state of misgiving about our situation when the communists launched the Tet offensive in 1968. High military and diplomatic officials in Washington suddenly were convinced that there was no hope for South Vietnam. Our allies and the brave forces of the U.S. proved the skeptics wrong. Now the South Vietnamese, fighting with the support of U.S. Air and Naval forces, are striking back at a determined communist foe and despite heavy losses are not showing panic. They are fighting with determination to protect Hue, the old capital city that means so much to them.

The South Vietnamese know what communism means and they don't want it. They are fighting and many have died rather than go into communist slavery. Regardless of the propaganda line of the ultra-left, the forces of Saigon have set a glittering record of patriotism and we should hail their efforts. The outcome of the struggle is still in doubt but the will of the South Vietnamese to win just may turn the tide yet.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people on rainy afternoons like to go to the bank, take out their safe-deposit boxes and count their stocks and bonds. They come home pleased that nothing is missing.

I'd like to be able to do be able to do that with my socks. In fact, for some time I've been thinking of doing just that—renting a safe-deposit box at the bank to keep my supply of socks intact.

The only reason I don't rent the safe-deposit box is that I don't trust banks that much. I don't think they can build a bank vault big enough or strong enough to keep out the mysterious predator who has been preying on my socks for as long as I can remember.

The problem of vanishing socks has been bothering me since early childhood. As the sleepiest of four staircase Irish sons, I was the last to get up— usually to find only one stock remaining to put on.

The culprit who made off with the missing sock was never apprehended, and the whole matter is a family mystery to this day. My older brother stoutly denies that he put on three socks just to confuse me. In any case I was known in the neighborhood as "Little One Sock," a nickname I came to despise.

One of the reasons I was glad to grow up and get a college degree was my thought that no one would dare try to steal socks from anyone that educated. But that proved to be an illusion.

Since then, through a major depression, a world war, a long boom, inumerable riots, and travel in some 67 countries, someone or something has been rustling my socks. I believe this is a world record of some kind. Do you know any other person who has had at least one sock stolen from him in 67 countries?

For some time I thought the guilty party must be one-footed, as usually he took only one of a pair of socks, but I can't recall that my life has been dogged by any individual hopping along after me on a single foot. Anyway, his modus operandi has changed lately. Now he takes my socks haphazardly—sometimes just one, sometimes both.

The other rainy afternoon I spent a couple of hours inventorying my sock drawer.

It was with some satisfaction that I noted I had 45 matching pairs of socks. I could now wear a fresh change of socks every day for a whole month and a half without having to rush to the laundry. That may not be much of a claim to fame for a man my age, but looky here, smarty, you go and count how many pairs of socks you have in your socks drawer, and I'll bet you wipe that smirk off your face pretty fast.

What gave me some sorrow, however, was to note that in addition to the 45 pairs of socks I had left over seven single unmatching socks.

Some problems a man in this life simply has to face all alone.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

MIAMI BEACH — George McGovern still stubbornly believes that Sen. Ted Kennedy will accept second place on his ticket.

McGovern has told his top aides that he doesn't think Kennedy would turn down a strong personal appeal to serve.

Campaign treasurer Henry Kimelman, who encouraged McGovern to make the race when others said he didn't have a chance, is also convinced McGovern can talk Kennedy into taking the vice presidential nomination. Kimelman came to Miami Beach last Thursday solicitng odds on a McGovern-Kennedy ticket.

But Meyer Feldman, who leads the McGovern for President campaign organization, is more skeptical. As one of the late President Kennedy's most trusted advisers and an intimate in good standing of the last surviving brother, Feldman has already made a pitch to Kennedy to take the second spot on a McGovern ticket.

Kennedy agreed to campaign for McGovern and made specific suggestions how he could best help to elect McGovern. But the senator from Massachusetts firmly rejected any possibility of accepting the vice presidential nomination.

The Kennedys have a strong sense of family loyalty and Ted Kennedy is now head of the clan. He feels keenly his responsibility to be a strong father figure to his own three children and his late brother Robert's 11 children.

The senator noted that it was a difficult time for young people to sort our their values. The children, he said, had first call on his time.

Footnote: Kennedy took off for Massachusetts where he will spend convention week. Aides confide, however, that he's keeping open the option of making a "surprise" appearance at the convention. Some top aides came to Miami Beach where they have cautiously sounded out delegates about drafting Kennedy as the standard bearer if a stalemate should develop between McGovern and the Stop McGovern forces. This undercover effort has been so loosely organized, however, that it obviously doesn't have Kennedy's personal direction.

UNPREDICTABLE MCCARTHY

Eugene McCarthy, the hero of the young and the unwashed at the 1968 Democratic donnybrook, has switched sides at the 1972 convention. He has promised to support his 1968 adversary, Hubert Humphrey, of all people.

Intimates say the erstwhile pied piper of Chicago resents losing his following to George McGovern. Back in 1968, McCarthy used to tell his associates he was four years too early. The new political tide would crest, he predicted, in 1972. But now McGovern is riding the tide and McCarthy has been stranded on the shoals.

Shortly before the crucial California primary, McCarthy showed up at Hubert Humphrey's apartment. The quixotic McCarthy was fairly bristling with hostility toward McGovern. McCarthy called McGovern a "newcomer" to the antiwar movement, expressed distrust to McGovern's foreign policy and promised to back Humphrey in California.

The only thing predictable about McCarthy is his unpredictability. But even Humphrey was startled to read a few days later that McCarthy had endorsed McGovern in California.

But on the eye of the convention, McCarthy was back in touch with Humphrey's aides. Again, McCarthy declared he didn't want McGovern to become president and faithfully promised to speak out for Humphrey on the convention floor.

NEW WALLACE ATTITUDE

The labor chieftains, who have bitterly fought Alabama's Gov. George Wallace for the loyalty of the blue-collar voters, show signs of softening their attitude.

Alarmed over Wallace's popularity in blue-collar neighborhoods, the unions campaigned against him in 1968 and again in the 1972 primaries.

The Alabama Labor Council took the lead in proclaiming Wallace's antilabor record in Alabama. The council pointed out that Alabama was one of only eight states with no state minimum wage law, that Alabama allows a low maximum payment of only $55 a week in workmen's compensation and unemployment benefits.

But the council, apparently, has now received new signals. Aides of Sen. Ed Muskie were among the first to detect the change. They reported to Muskie in a private memo:

"The Alabama Labor Council, which strongly criticized Wallace's labor record in the past, believes that, in 1972, Wallace 'went right down the line for labor.'

"This comes from Barney Weeks, who is head of the state labor Council. He feels that Wallace was very important in achieving gains in workmen's comp, unemployment comp and occupational health and safety.

"The labor Council opposed Wallace on minimum wage and on the property tax classification package in 1971, but in general Weeks says: 'You cannot fault him this year.'

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

McGovern on the phone: confidentially offers peace to party labor chiefs; pruged by followers he calls 'uncontrollable'

MIAMI -- With uncharacteristic humility, Sen. McGovern has been on the long distance telephone all this past week with powerful, albeit momentarily purged, Democratic leaders, county chairmen who were defeated in primary races, et. al., reporting to them that he has been unable to control his troops.

His recurrent theme is his desire for party unity - with old-line leaders, with the professional party people and with the labor movement -- especially with labor movement.

Typical is one such conversation. The South Dakotan was on "the farm in Maryland" during the Fourth of July weekend when he asked his chief counsellor, Frank Mankiewicz, to telephone some of the New York State County leaders who were brashly wiped off the big state's convention delegation by McGovern's youthful reform brigades.

Without wide labor and county machine support in this swing state, McGovern can't carry it -- and if he doesn't take New York he might as well relax in the Black Hills. So Mankiewicz phoned the blondish, fortyish Irishman, Pat Cunningham, the Bronx County leader. Frank suggested he call McGovern "on the farm." The candidate would like to hear from him.

Cunningham is a blend of old Joe Kennedy-Jack Kennedy politics updated. Like 57 other New York county leaders, he was deprived of his place in the convention delegation. But he rang "the farm." McGovern answered. There was some confidential talk which doesn't matter here. Then McGovern urged Cunningham to come on down to Miami. There would be a Convention Hall badge, certainly. And he asked what could be done to unite the party after he got the nomination.

Cunningham listened respectfully. Then he suggested a 25-man national unity committee which could spread across the land preaching internal peace - men such as former New York Mayor Robert Wagner and former Ambassador Averell Harriman.

McGovern replied this was simply a grand idea, especially since he was having difficulty, said he, controlling his young followers who are purge-impassioned.

At this writing Cunningham still is in the Bronx - waiting to see if Ted Kennedy used that plane which is standing by near Hyannisport. Then everyone will go to Florida.

McGovern's people have not given up trying to get Ted to take second place - particularly since their private polls disclose that the only two men who would add strength to a McGovern ticket are Kennedy and George Wallace.

Without a Ted Kennedy or an Abe Ribicoff in second place, the drive for unity with George Meany's labor forces will move with the speed of a snow plow in the Everglades. But McGovern and Mankiewicz, however, have a strategy for salving the "Meany movement's" sensitivities. The strategy is called Humphrey.

McGovern reckons Hubert Humphrey would not turn his back on an old friend, a once devoted compatriot and the man who jumped to the Chicago convention platform to rally forces for HHH in '68. That man is McGovern.

So when the Miami heat is off, McGovern's game plan calls for asking Sen. Humphrey to be ambassador to the angry labor leaders now up the beach at the Hotel Americanna. Humphrey has been in constant touch with Meany and his podium-thumping, money-raising, Nixon-hating political director Al Barkan, the AFL-CIO's 62-year -old Jim Farley.

If it all goes as McGovern plans it, I do believe Hubert Humphrey will be McGovern's ambassador behind the scenes if not actually right out front. He would go to the United Steel Workers' president I.W. "Abe" Abel, labor's convention floor leader and Humphrey's intimate friend. They would bring McGovern and Meany together.

This McGovern needs desperatley, regardless of his effectively cool derision of all establishments.

Few realize as well as McGovern does the role the labor establishment has played in making him a successful politician instead of a dull professor writing an esoteric thesis on the 1913 Ludlow Massacre. McGovern himself said as much right in this town shortly before noon last Nov. 19.

Then he had followed Richard Nixon to the AFL—CIO convention platform. Fifteen times the thousand delegates had applauded his needling of the President. They cheered when he said: "One lesson I have learned in politics.... is that it is not only enough to be right on the issues; you have to organize to get your message across and to get your people to the polls...I want to say this morning that we are endebted to labor's COPE (Committee on Political Education), to Al Barkan and to others for much of the success we have enjoyed in our (Republican) state. But the nation's real experts on organization... are here in this auditorium."

With their help, said he in effect, he could retire John Connally, Sprio Agnew and Richard Nixon.

McGovern's a pro. That's why he has been proffering peace and political bandaids. His amateurs really cut up his party.

Malden Merchants Asked About City Sales Tax

MALDEN — Chamber of Commerce member Bill Johnson last night presented City Council members with survey findings concerning a one-cent city sales tax.

The survey was conducted among downtown merchants and revealed that of 65 questioned, 23 per cent disagreed with the proposal, 10.5 per cent agreed and 12 per cent stated they had not given a city sales tax any thought. Another 18.5 per cent requested additional information and 17 per cent refushed to reply.

Following a discussion, the council hired a former Bernie policeman, Carroll McGowen, to the Malden police force.

A decision was tabled concerning annexation of land owned by Don Gregory in the southwest section of thycity.

Kiefner Brothers, Inc., contractors for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., was given permission to expand the telephone building which extends onto the library parking lot, provided the builders restore any damage to the parking lot incurred during construction.

Violation penalties were provided for in ordinances concerning regulations on use of public and private sewers, drains sewer disposals and wastes filtering into public sewers.

A second ordinance passed prohibits burning at any time in the downtown fire zone and burning after 6 p.m. for residents.

Doyle Burge of the Industrial Park committee resigned from that position, and the council approved appointment of Ray Bess to fill the vacancy.

The council requested City Attorney Gordon Fritz to draw up an ordinance for the next council meeting which would limit rummage sales in the city.

The council also requested that a local property owner, J. F. Farris, be requested to clean up his property in the southwest section of town.

Rumors Of Eagleton For VP

MIAMI BEACH AP - Sam Hamra Jr., of Springfield, who supposedly strained his longtime political association with Gov. Hearnes when he declared for Sen. George McGovern two months ago, claimed today it is "all over but the shouting" for McGovern to wrap up the Democratic presidential nomination.

And, Hamra contended U.S. Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri is under serious consideration as a vice presidential running mate of McGovern.

"I do know that Sen. McGovern is seriously considering Sen. Eagleton," said Hamra, "and I think Missouri deserves the vice presidency.

"I am confident Sen. McGovern will get the nomination, and in looking for a vice presidential candidate to supplement his ticket, I believe Sen. Eagleton would be an excellent choice."

Hamra, who declared for McGovern on May 30 after being elected a Missouri delegate to the national Democratic convention in an uncommitted status, said he hoped to arrange a meetng with McGovern today-presumably to not only plot balloting strategy for Wednesday night but to talk about Eagleton.

Eagleton and U.S. Sen. Stuart Symington, the state's senior senator, disclosed Monday aftemoon they would support the McGovern challenge to the seating of 151 non-McGovern candidates from California-and they did early today.

But Eagleton dismissed talk that he perhaps was under consideration as a vice presidential running mate. "I'm sure each candidate has a large number of potential running mates under study," he said.

Eagleton and Symington took their own votes and 2½ others away from the uncommitted and Muskie factions of the Missouri delegation.

Voting to restore the 151 votes to McGovern, which the Credentials Committee had stripped from him to reflect the popular vote in the California primary, were the 18 McGovern-declared delegates, plus Eagleton, Symington, Paul Berra of St. Louis, George Lehr of Kansas City and Brunson Hollingsworth of Hillsboro. Hollingsworth had the half vote.

Eagleton, Symington and Lehr have said they will vote for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie on the first ballot Wednesday night, while Berra and Hollingsworth were uncommitted.

The two senators said they remain pledged to Muskie as long as he remains a candidate.

Weingarten Man Killed In Collision

SAINTE GENEVIEVE, Mo. (AP) — A Weingarten, Mo. man was killed Monday when he was hit by another car as he attempted to make a left- turn, the highway patrol said.

The dead man was identified as Harry Grafton Scott, 76.

The driver of the other car and a passenger in the car were taken to The Ste. Genevieve County hospital. The patrol said the injured were, Joan Elise Weber, 16, of Sainte Genevieve, driver of the car and Terri Milfelt, 12, also of Sainte Genevieve.

Basler Now Taking Job Applications

CHARLESTON — Basler Electric Company, idled for three months because of striking union workers, began taking applications Friday for positions in assembly, winding, painting and other manufacturing duties.

David Brauns, plant manager, said Monday a "fair amount" of people had submitted applications, but he would not give a date when plant production would begin.

"That decision is up to the home office in Highland, Ill.," Brauns added.

Basler Electric manufactures transformers.

When asked about recent phone calls and harassment, Brauns said management personnel have had "none to speak of."

The Bay of Bengal, with a shoreline of 2,250 miles, is the largest bay in the world.

Pemiscot Voters Go To Polls

Pemiscot County voters will settle two issues at the polls today as Holland residents elect a new mayor and Steele residents decide on annexation of a proposed nursing home and residential area in Stephens Addition.

The special mayoral race in Holland was called June 20 by Circuit Court Judge William L. Ragland as a result of controversy concerning the April 4 regular election. In that polling, Incumbent Mayor William Biggs and his challenger Earl Hawkins were separated by one vote in a 67-66 final count with each contending he was the winner.

Dexter Man Bound Over

BLOOMFIELD — Clarence Gay of Dexter was bound over to Stoddard County Circuit Court Monday by Judge Koss Blomeyer in Magistrate Court on two counts of stealing at least $50 and two counts of sodomy.

Gay was arrested June 20 by Essex police and the Stoddard County sheriff's department after a minibike, chain saw and numerous bicycles were found at a shack in Essex where Gay was living.

Petition For Liquor By Drink

A petition drive got under way today to force an election to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink in Sikeston.

City officials say they are in the dark about the petition. However, some have said in the past they felt the liquor by the drink issue would arise here soon.

Mrs. Cecil Mae Quertermous, 322 Benton, began circulating petitions this morning. She refused any comment on the matter.

City Attorney Kenneth Dement said the question cannot appear on the Aug. 8 primary election ballot because of the lack of time between now and the election. Dement said a special election would have to be called.

The action in Sikeston follows by one month a successful drive to legalize liquor by the drink in Charleston.

Ann Landers

Too Much Togetherness Can Stifle Individual Growth

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to "Fraidy Kat" gave me the courage I needed to write about a problem that has been bothering me for a long time.

"Fraidy Kat" was a widow whose second husband carried his first wife's picture in his wallet for two years. She was afraid to look and see if it was still there. It made her very sad that he couldn't give it up. You said, "Don't look. Simply buy him a new wallet and put your picture in it."

Three years ago I married a widower. Quite by accident I ran across his first wife's ashes in our garage. The ashes are in an urn, packed in a box -- the same box they were shipped in by the state.

I feel uneasy about this but I've never said anything. I believe the best place for the ashes is in a cemetery. What should I do? ---Second Wife.

Dear S.W.: Inform your husband that you have come across the "box" and you feel the garage is not an appropriate place for it. Tell him that many people who request cremation ask that their ashes be strewn over a lake, or a river, or a favorite meadow. A friend of mine has requested that her ashes be put in an urn and placed in the Pump Room in Chicago -- and I'm not kidding.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been married for three years to a man who never was much of a talker but I've always had the feeling the quiet fellows are the real-hell-raisers. Now it appears my hunch may be right.

I just discovered what I thought was his mother's recipe box --- one of those wooden, kitchen-type index files -- jammed with names, addresses, telephone numbers, dimensions, and a few comments which appear to be performance ratings.

I have not told my husband I found it. Should I? He never goes anyplace without me (that I know of) and I have no reason to suspect that he is seeing anyone. But I'm baffled as to why he hangs on to the junk if he has no use for it. What should I do? --Wands

Dear Wan: Keep your pea-pickin' hands off your husband's property. He probably keeps it for the same reason some women hang on to their old high school and college relics.

Dear Ann Landers: This isn't a serious problem, but it bugs me because I know something is wrong and I'm not sure what should be done about it.

Peter and I plan to be married within the next six months. We have lunch together every day and we meet every evening after work. We eat dinner together almost every night and visit till midnight or 1 :00 a.m. On weekends we spend all our time together.

So what's bad about that? Nothing, except I suddenly realized when I started to think about plans for the wedding that I don't have any girl friends. For the last three years I've been saying no to everybody but Peter. The girls I work with are nice but I never see them except in the office. We are all busy during working hours, so there's no time to get acquainted.

Do you feel I am making a mistake? To be truthful I'd rather be with Peter than anybody, but maybe this isn't the best thing for our relationship. Please guide me. --Love Him Best

Dear Love: You and Peter will enjoy each other more if you broaden your acquaintanceship to include others. Start by having lunch every other day with some of the girls. And one evening a week you and Peter should go your separate ways for some activity -- cultural, political, atheltic, intellectual. You'll be more intersting to one another. Too much togetherness can stifle individual growth.

Can drugs be a friend in time of stress? If you keep your head together can they be of help? Ann Landers' new booklet,"Straight Dope On Drugs," separates the fact from the fiction. Get it today. For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16cents postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

1,877 Children Grow Gardens

A total of 1,877 children in the Bootheel area are growning gardens as part of the Little Green Thumb Garden program sponsored by the University of Missouri Extension Centers in six counties. Tours were made of some of these gardens Friday.

There are 191 enrolled in Scott County; 576 in Stoddard County; 389 in Mississippi County; 206 in New Madrid County; 210 in Pemiscot County; and 305 in Dunklin County.

The program is designed to teach youngsters the value of good nutrition and to help them develop the pride of ownership and production.

The program is conducted by two extension home economists, Areva Abernathy of Benton and Mattie Aslin of Kennett. Field work on the county and individual family level is supervised by 22 foods and nutrition assistants. Three or four of these assistants are employed in each of the six counties. Area youth staff members also assist with the program. The program is coordinated by Bill Purnell of Charleston, area youth specialist.

Terry Watson Gets Executive Position

ST. LOUIS — Terry Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Totty of Conran, has been appointed to the position of executive secretary of St. Louis County Medical Society in Clayton.

Mrs. Watson attended elementary school in Conran and Portageville High School.

She married Jackie D. Watson of Bernie in 1962. The couple has three children and resides in St. Charles where Watson is employed at Monsanto.

Mrs. Watson began working for the medical society in June 1970 after attending St. Louis College of Business for four months.

She adapted to the position under the direction of Edgar Mothershead, who was in charge of the office.

In February of this year Mothershead died. Mrs. Watson was appointed to temporarily fill in and keep the office operating. In March the St. Louis County Medical Society's council offered the position of executive secretary to Mrs. Watson because of her management ability.

She now has a staff of two persons to help her with her work which includes being publisher of the Bulletin the Society publishes twice a month.

She is one of the few women nationally to hold such a position.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Battling Fireman

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

When Howard's house caught fire, Howard watched optimistically as firemen from nearby Blazeville quickly appeared on the scene prepared to battle the flames. The only battling they did, however, was with the firemen from Sparkshill who arrived shortly thereafter.

Claiming that Howard's house was in Sparkskill, and actually it was, they insisted that the smoke-eaters from Blazeville go home since it was up to them to put out the fire.

By the time the argument ended, however, Howard's poor house was only a smoldering memory. Outraged, he sued the City of Sparkskill for the loss of his home.

"If its firemen had concentrated on fighting fires instead of other firemen," he fumed, "my house would still be standing today. It was pure carelessness. They fiddled around while my home was burned."

"Argument or no argument," was the defense, "Sparkskill isn't liable. Under the law, it's well estabished that a city cannot be held responsible for negligently failing to put out a fire. Therefore, Howard's lawsuit must be dismissed."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you dismiss homeless Howard's lawsuit?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that while Sparkskill might not be liable for negligently failing to put out Howard's fire, it can be held liable for wrongfully preventing the firemen from Blazeville from putting out the fire. (Based on a 1962 New York Supreme Court Decision)

Grease Ball Charge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rest of the nation may be into the "dry look," but as far as Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner is concerned, Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians still digs greasy kid stuff.

"Listen, I respect any manger who's trying to win—and that's what Tanner is trying to do," Perry said after spinning a four-hitter for his 14th victory of the season, a 2-1 triumph over the White Sox Monday night which Tanner protested.

In other American League games, Kansas City edged Baltimore 3-2, Detroit defeated Texas 8-3, Minnesota blizted Milwaukee 8-1, California nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 and Boston beat Oakland 42.

In the abbreviated National League schedule, San Francisco turned back the New York Mets 5-4, Montreal beat San Diego 6-3 and, in a twinight doubleheader, Los Angeles beat Philadelphia 6-4 in 11 innings before the Phillies won the nightcap 9-1.

Perry, who tied Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the winningest pitcher in the majors this season—with a little help from Mickey's cousin, Ron—has never admitted to putting anything on the baseball except spi... spin.

At one time or another, an awful lot of batters have said Perry's pitches have more spit than spin—or some other illegal substance. Tanner insists it's grease. And he was so sure of it Monday night that, after 2½ innings, he told plate umpire Bill Haller he was playing the game under protest.

"That's Tanner's privilege to protest if he wants, and that's what I told him on the field," Haller explained. "It's a matter of judgment—and in my judgment, Perry wasn't doing anything illegal."

But Tanner had different ideas. "If we don't win the protest," he fumed, "Perry will be allowed to use his grease ball all the time. And if he is, everybody else will be allowed to do the same. There'll be a rush on the market for the jelly he uses."

Graig Nettles' sacrifice fly gave the Indians their first run in the first inning, then Ron Lolech provided what proved to be the winner in the fourth with his first major league home run. The White Sox picked up an unearned run in the sixth.

SPORT SHORTS

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jets of the National Football League have announced the hiring of Mike Holovak as a talent scout for a five-state area for a scouting combine with the Houston Oilers and Denver Broncos.

Holovak, replacing Jimmy Jones, was head coach of the Boston Patriots from 1961-68 and was named American Football League Coach of the Year in 1966. Last year, he was a receiver coach for the Oakland Raiders.

FOXBORO Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots have signed five more veteran players for the 1972 National Football League season.

The Patriots announced Monday the signing of wide receivers Reggie Rucker and Eric Crabtree, tight end Roland Moss, kicking specialist Charlie Gogolak and offensive tackle Mike Montler.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Fred Gehrke was named winner today of the first Pioneer Award at the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Gehrke, a former Rams halfback who introduced the use of team symbols on football helmets, will be honored July 28 at a civic banquet on the eve of the annual hall of fame enshrinement ceremonies.

The Pioneer Award was established this year to honor the memory of the late Dan Reeves, long-time owner of the Rams.

Tryout Monday

POPLAR BLUFF — A tryout camp for baseball players will be conducted by the Cincinnati Reds next Monday at Wheatley Park. The camp is open to boys from 16 to 22 years old. High school sophomores and juniors are also urged to attend.

Reds' Scouting Supervisor Chet Montgomery will oversee the tryout, which is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Montgomery will be assisted by scouts Jim Dawson, Bill Bradshaw and Cluster Williams.

All eligible players are requested to furnish their own personal gear -- shoes, uniforms and gloves. The Reds will provide bats and baseballs.

In addition, players will be responsible for traveling and living expenses, if any unless they are signed to contracts with Cincinnati Reds organization teams.

Players must be 16 years of age to be eligible and all American Legion players must have written approval from their Legion coaches or post commanders if attendance at the tryout is in direct conflict with American Legion activities.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Umpire Henry C. "Shag" Crawford has been granted a temporary leave of absence from the National League because of illness and has returned to his home at Havertown, Pa., President Charles S. Feeney said Monday.

Crawford became ill during a game at Cincinnati over the weekend. He joined the league at the start of the 1956 season and now is fourth in seniority.

Musial, American League Leaders Triumph

MUSIAL LEAGUE — Collins Construction grabbed a full two-game lead over Malone and Hyde Monday night with a 16-8 win in Musial league play. The 15-hit triumph sent the Constructioneers record to a 9-1 mark, tops in the Musial League East Malone and Hyde trials in the standings with a 7-3 mark and was idle last night.

In the first game Nunnelee rocketed by Todd Laundry, 24-7, and kept the Musial League West a three-way race for the divisional title. Nunnelee (7-3) trails Bank of Sikeston and Kingsway, who share the lead with 8-2 marks.

Nunnelee's winning hurler, Glaus, collected four hits as his reliever, Ratledge, assisted with three hits to pace the winner's at the plate. Four teammates added two hits each in the Nunnelee attack. Grady picked up three hits to pace Todd Laundry's 13-hit lineup. Bell was tagged with the defeat.

In the nightcap Collins' lineup shocked Brothers Club pitching for 15 hits as Self paced the Collins' hitters with three safeties. Box picked up the win.

Ferrell, R. Howard and Whitlock each had two hits for the Brothers.

AMERICAN LEAGUE — Fabick picked up a 21-2 win over Flower Basket on only five hits and kept its first place slot in the American League East in Monday night's nightcap. In the earlier contest, Sealtest picked up its second win of the year with an 18-8 triumph over Bridger.

Fabick's Keefer and relief hurler Launius each batted two hits in the winners' five-hit lineup. An 11-run second inning capped the division leader's four-inning win, and an additional eight markers in the third frame extended the Fabick margin. Campbell picked up the win on a one-hitter as Flower Bakset's losing pitcher, Overby, collected the lone Basket hit.

In the 18-8 Sealtest win, Lane paced the winners with three hits and Murphy and Cross each added two hits to the winning lineup. A 13-run, second frame put the Sealtest squad into the lead for good after trailing 7-1 in the top half. D. Holifield paced the Bridger batters with three hits. Foster added two safeties.

NATIONAL LEAGUE — After Lions scored two runs in the bottom half of the seventh inning, Security National hurler, Standridge, fanned three straight batters to secure a 5-4 decision. Pizza Inn's Marks fired a one hit shut-out in the second game as the Inn downed A & B Leasing, 11-0.

Security National scored three runs in the top half of the seventh inning to break a 2-2 deadlock and checked the Lions' rally to pick up the closely fought contest. Standridge had two of the Bankers' four hits while Elledge collected two of the Lions' five safeties.

In the Pizza Inn lineup, Burrows and Smith each had two hits. White spoiled the no-hitter with the lone safety in the A & B lineup.

Pinto Wagon: $2265*
We put a lot into it.
You can put a lot in it.
What you can put in: over 60 cubic feet. Put the rear seat down and there's 60.6 cubic feet of carrying space. For comparison: VW Squareback and Vega Kammback both give you a bit over 50 cubic feet.

The basic $2265* model. It's the ideal choice for people who want an economy car that carries more—or a wagon that costs less. The white sidewall tires (shown here) are $28.00
Some Details.
1. The lift gate swings up and out of the way.
2. The rear passenger windows flip open.
3. The spare tire doesn't take up any load room because it has its own well under the floor. And beneath it all, the rear suspension is specially designed for load carrying.
Front Disc Brakes. Standard. And there's precise rack-and-pinion steering, which is normally found only in some of the more expensive sports cars.
2000cc Overhead Cam Engine. It's rugged, economical, peppy—and standard equipment. A 4-speed floor mounted all-synchromesh transmission is also standard.
The Squire Option. That distinctive wood-sided wagon look, plus wheel covers, special trim, and more. No other economy wagon offers anything like it. Price with the Squire Option: $2479.* The luggage rack is $45.53 extra. The white sidewall tires $28.00.

Delay Drink Tax Ruling

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's secretary of state is waiting for an answer from sponsors of the soft drink tax amendment before ruling on a legal challenge lodged by Rep. Thomas D. Graham, DJefferson City.

Ted Scott, head of the Citizens Committee for Conservation, which gathered 163,620 signatures on petitions, said he would file a memorandum this week.

The petition drive seeks to place on the November ballot a constitutional amendment setting a one-cent per bottle tax on soft drinks sold in Missouri. The money, expected to be about $21 million a year, would go to the State Department of Conservation for purchase of land to be preserved as natural habitat areas.

Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick, who held a hearing Monday in his office, said he would take the challenge under advisement. Any court hustles must be cleared by petition drives by Sept., 1, he said. The election is Nov. 7.

Graham said he found no fault with the petition's cause, but he opposes it's constitutionality.

Graham said the petition was illegal in that it covered more than one subject, contained no title, and that it contained no enacting clause.

Scientists Pleased With Solar Chase

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Delighted scientists drank champagne toasts to the successful airborne chase of an eclipse of the sun, which they say is certain to yield new findings about the fiery orb.

"We expect to find all sorts of new things," said a beaming Dr. Arthur Cox, the expedition's leader, after the team of astronomers recorded the pearly white grandeur of the solar corona Monday.

The corona is the ring of hot gases that stream millions of miles out into space. Scientists hope that by studying it they can find clues to how the sun interacts with earth and interferes with man's activities.

Crowded into a converted Air Force cargo jet stuffed with 15 tons of scientific gear, the scientists, from the Los Alamos (N.M.) Scientific Laboratory, intercepted the eclipse 39,000 feet over the Arctic Circle northeast of ice-filled Hudson Bay in Canada's Northwest Territories.

As the shadow of the moon passing in front of the sun streaked southeastward at 1,000 miles an hour, the flying laboratory raced it, reaching 565 miles per hour. This gave the scientists a precious 116 additional seconds during which they could view the sun totally obscured and see the white corona etched against the blackness of space.

They kept their instruments in this path of "totality" for three minutes and 45 seconds, and the results, except for a few minor problems, delighted everyone.

When the sun vanished altogether at 3:42 p.m. EDT, the airplane's interior was almost as dark as night. Astronomers hovering over their telescopes and radiation-measuring devices used pencil flashlights to perform their duties.

Outside, the ground was obscured by a thick layer of clouds and the black, ovalshaped lunar shadow could be seen 50 miles in opposite directions, with fluffy clouds brightly lit by the sun beyond the shadow. The view was the most striking from the cockpit.

"Out in front of us after the eclipse passed us we could see this huge circular shadow 120 miles wide moving across the clouds below us. It was the most fantastic sight I've ever seen," said Maj. Dan Yergler, the pilot.

Hearing Set On Dump Truck Rates

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Dump truck operators will get a hearing before the state Public Service Commission July 20 on their request for an immediate 20 per cent increase in their rates.

It is part of a total 40 per cent increase they requested last Feb. 23.

The PSC also set Oct. 12 for a hearing on regulations covering service provided by sewer utilities.

Ark-Mo Annual Report Wins Merit Award

BLYTHEVILLE— Arkansas - Missouri Power Company's 1971 annual report has been selected for a merit award by the national publication, "Financial World," in their 1972 annual report survey.

The merit Award reads: "In recognition of the excellence of its 1971 annual report to shareowners, this certificate is presented to Arkansas-Missouri Power Company.

"Selected on the basis of content, design and typography from among 5,000 reports reviewed in the 32nd annual report survey conducted during 1972."

Howard L. Sherman, director of annual report survey, signed the certificate, and in an accompanying letter to Ark-Mo President Frank G. Smith, Jr., wrote that the merit award "is given for diligent effort in providing shareowners with pertinent financial information for investment decision- making, and in a manner more easily read and understood. It is based upon well- established standards for the annual report."

This is the 24th consecutive year that Ark- Mo's annual report has been so recognized.

Cranford/ Johnson/ Hunt & Associates of Memphis were designers of the report.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A new telephone communications system for state agencies in 15 cities will go into service in October, J.P. Trotter, vice president and general manager of United Telephone Co. of Missouri, said today.

The 15 cities are Columbia, Fulton, Rolla, Macon, Hannibal, Kirksville, St. Joseph, St. Louis, Kansas City, Joplin, Springfield, Willow Springs, Cape Grardeau, Poplar Bluff, and Farmington.

Actor Hopes To Make 'Significant' Films

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Black actor Raymond St. Jacques says he thinks "black people have seen enough of white people on the movie screen and now they would like to see some of their own heroes."

To meet the need the 6-foot-3 actor has formed a company to produce "films now — plays later" that has begun work on its first movie, "The Book of Numbers."

St. Jacques, who is the film's producer-director, says, "It's a story of the 1930s. It's about the black experience then. And it's about the numbers racket."

He says the aim of his firm is not only to develop and make movies but "to make them significant so they will relate to the black struggle in America. We also want them to instruct, to entertain, and to make a few dollars.

"There has been a rash of black films lately but many of them are rip-offs that lack taste and make no contribution. We must have films that have artistic merit, taste and significance."

St. Jacques, whose latest film appearance is in "Come Back Charleston Blue," has appeared in a wide variety of movies, stage plays, and television productions since "I saw a play when I was young and decided I wanted to act."

The 40-year-old actor says he got his first break in 1955 when he applied for a part in an off-Broadway play about the Korean War "and they told me there was nothing in it for blacks.

"I said, 'What are you talking about? It's about Korea isn't it? What about the black soldiers fighting over there?' So they hired me. At $35 a week. I was the only black in the play."

After that, he says, "I got fairly well established, I worked pretty steady, I eked out a living, and here I am."

St. Jacques feels that things "have been easing for black actors. You see more blacks in front of the camera now but not behind it. When we make our picture we plan to have an apprentice in each key department behind the camera. They will study behind-the-camera techniques, plus they will actually do."

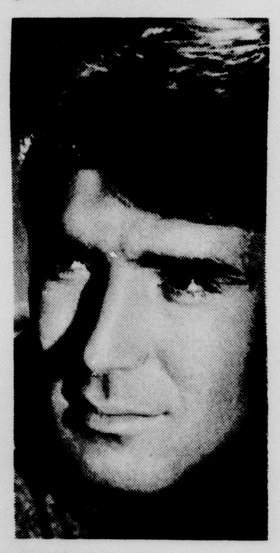
While he thinks things are easing somewhat for blacks, St. Jacques adds that "it's still pretty hard for a black to get into acting, although not as hard as when I came up.

RAYMOND ST. JACQUES

"If a young black asked me, I'd say 'forget it, get a degree, get a good job, and try acting as a hobby.'

"But, if you are masochistic and tenacious, then I'd urge you to get a good strong education in acting techniques. To dance, sing, read, write. Then you will have the resources to draw on that are necessary to recreate life."

ALEX RICHMAN abandoned her classical piano training to invade the male world of rock music. Her new album, "Salty," indicates she's getting it together for a solid career.



TONY SCOTTI has not yet become a household word, in spite — or perhaps because—of his appearance in "Valley of the Dolls." But he says he still hopes to become a big name in acting.

MARS LANDING will be by specially designed parachute in the planned 1976 U.S. unmanned probe of the red planet's surface. Shown in artist's sketch, the 53-foot-diameter parachute and instrument payload will descend through the rarefied martian atmosphere, only 1/160th earth's atmospheric pressure after ejection from the spacecraft that carried them the millions of space miles from earth. Prototype parachutes, are being tested this summer in drops from 146,000-foot altitudes over White Sands Proving Ground in New Mexico.

THERE ARE men's fashions and then there are men's fashions. Actually, there's nothing new here. Knee pants and tails have been in for a long time for those, such as Britain's Prince Philip photographed at a Buckingham Palace state banquet, required to cut a royal figure.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
McGovern-Kennedy in 1972? here are the inside facts

A 20—ACRE SITE (see arrows) southwest of the interchange of Interstate 55 and 57 has been offered to the highway patrol by the City of Sikeston as the location for the patrol's new Troop E headquarters. The site is one of several in Sikeston being inspected by patrol officials. It offers easy access to both interstate highways and, like the other sites, free installation by the city of all utilities.

McGovern Sweeps To Brink Of Demo Nomination Today

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, staging a dramatic demonstration of political power, swept to the brink of the Democratic presidential nomination today in a marathon opening session of his party's national convention that ended just before dawn.

McGovern's display of organizational muscle came when he recaptured 151 disputed California delegates at the peak of a tumultuous session.

The South Dakota senator claimed his long, uphill battle was near success and that victory in Wednesday night's nominating session is "within our grasp."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, leader of the coalition of McGovern rivals that lost the crucial California vote, declined to concede the nomination. But he admitted that McGovern, "had quite a night" and promised to say more in the morning.

But with victory within reach in the convention's opening session, the McGovern camp failed in an effort to engineer a compromise to seat both Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and a heavily pro-McGovern group of Illinois challengers.

The convention then voted to oust the powerful Chicago mayor in a move expected to have far-reaching consequences both throughout the party and in its fall campaign for the White House in the politically crucial state of Illinois.

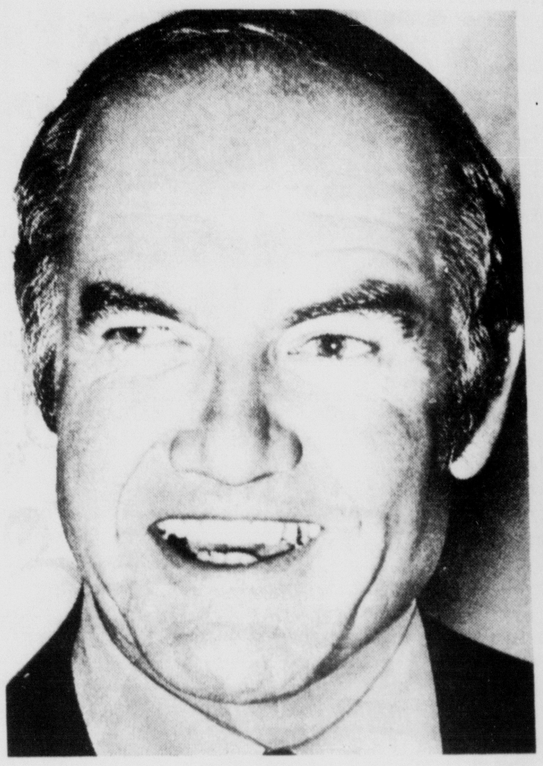
Party leaders had feared the opening night session would run into the daylight hours.

But the showdown votes on California and Illinois were followed by a series of compromises that quickly brought the opening session to a close a few minutes before 5 a.m. EDT.

In terms of the party's presidential fight, the California test was crucial, perhaps decisive.

According to an Associated Press count, addition of the 151 California votes brought McGovern within about 25 votes of a first-ballot nomination with other uncommitted delegates expected to move his way.

It took two votes, both decided by larger than expected margins, to settle the California credentials dispute.



Sen. George McGovern

For New Madrid Medical Team

Expense Money Must Be Raised

NEW MADRID — Before a medical team of two doctors, two nurses and a laboratory technician will be in practice here through assignment by the National Health Service Corps, a commitment to underwrite expenses for approximately six months must be made to the agency by a sponsoring organization.

These remarks were made by Sam L. Hunter Jr., member of the Chamber of Commerce medical committee, to a group meeting with the chamber to coordinate plans for reactivation of the Missouri Community Betterment program.

The exact amount of money needed has not been determined, but after consulting with five area clinic business managers, it is estimated between $15,000 and $20,000 will be required.

This money is to provide office facilities for the team, equipment, in addition to what the Chamber owns, medical and office supplies and salaries for office personnel.

The six-month period is estimated to be the time required for the practice to become self-sustaining. Salaries are paid by NHSC for the medical team, which will charge fees as if in private practice. The money used to subsidize the medical facilities would be paid back from fees collected.

Hunter and Bruce Allen, a member of the chamber's board of directors and general manager of Noranda Aluminum, Inc., will meet this week with NHCS officials in Kansas City to obtain more information on the required commitment.

Speaking of the critical need for medical facilities in New Madrid, F.M. Baird, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said, "It is absolutely necessary that we obtain these medical facilities if our town is to grow and progress.

"New residents do not want to locate in a community where medical services are not available," he said, in stressing the importance in obtaining the medical team.

The 24 persons, representing 15 organizations, agreed to organize the rally support to secure the funds necessary to establish the medical facilities.

Noranda and Bank of New Madrid pledged to contribute an amount equal to the total raised in the community.

In other matters pertaining to the Missouri Community Betterment program, the group will meet July 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the community building to discuss and coordinate plans for reactivation of the program with Guy Park Krause, director of MCB and Jerry Shirley, MCB, southeast area specialist of Jefferson City.

The Rev. Edward E. Wolfe, pastor of the Baptist Church, accepted tentative chairmanship of the program.

Injuries Fatal To Motorist

A Fisk youth was injured Monday and a St. Louis man died of injuries suffered in an Independence Day auto crash, the highway patrol reported this morning.

James Dale Pope, 14, of Fisk was taken to a Poplar Bluff hospital with a possible broken neck after the motorcycle he was riding crashed into a pickup truck driven by Eva Edith Jones, 37, of Sturdivant. The accident occurred at 3 p.m. on Highway 60 at Fisk.

Marvin L. Pease, 44, of St. Louis died Monday at Perry County Hospital in Perryville of injuries sustained in a one-car accident on a gravel road

Humphrey Withdraws, Releases Delegates

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, his last hope of winning the Democratic presidential nomination gone, stepped aside today and withdrew from the race.

Humphrey said he will not let himself be nominated at the Democratic National Convention, and he released his delegates to vote as they wish.

Humphrey, reading from a brief statement at a news conference, dropped out of the race a few hours after Sen. George McGovern scored a striking triumph and reclaimed 151 contested California delegates in a floor fight at the convention.

Humphrey did not say whether he would support McGovern, an old friend, for the nomination.

"My withdrawal from the presidential race is a withdrawal of candidacy only," the Minnesota senator said. "It is not a withdrawal of spirit or of determination to continue the battle I have waged all my public life on behalf of those who had no voice."

The Humphrey statement came after the Minnesota senator's press aide, Walter Wurfel, announced the withdrawal in an off-handed manner to newsmen awaiting the candidate's statement.

Humphrey's statement was seen as a move to unify the Democratic party which had been torn by sometimes bitter disputes between McGovern supporters and the backers of Humphrey and other candidates.

Humphrey has said consistently he will support and work hard for McGovern if the South Dakota senator wins the nomination.

Humphrey's withdrawal appeared to end his 12-year quest for the presidency. He first sought the party's nomination in 1960 but lost to John F. Kennedy.

He served as vice president under Lyndon B. Johnson and was the party's nominee in 1968, losing narrowly to President Nixon.

The former vice president appeared before newsmen and television cameras with Mrs. Humphrey at his side and with other members of his family standing behind.

He said he would continue to work for "justice and compassion," and declared he had waged a good battle within the rules of the game."

There were tears in his eyes as he bowed out of what is almost certainly his "last hurrah."

Humphrey announced his withdrawal after spending most of the morning asleep in his hotel room. He had stayed up most of the night, watching on television as the convention battled over the California delegation question.

Aides said he arose at 10:15 a.m., ate breakfast and conferred with his top campaign aides.

Food Fund Project To Be Discussed

BENTON — At 2 p.m. Thursday Scott County Court will hear a proposal concerning the possibility of appropriating funds for the delivery of commodities to persons unable to pick them up.

The Emergency Food and Medical Services Program of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation ended its food delivery program on June 30 for lack of federally appropriated funds.

Abram Hirschowitz of Oran, a county chairman of Volunteers Against Hunger, said all county chairmen and members of Missouri Association for Social Welfare are urged to attend the session at the county courtroom in the courthouse at Benton.

Lilbourn To Vote On Revenue Bond

LILBOURN -- Aug. 1 has been set for a special $94,000 revenue bond referendum. If approved by the voters, the funds will be used to repay a $94,000 Farmers Home Administration loan for extension and improvement of the water system.

Approval of the issue will not increase property taxes, but bonds will be paid off by revenue received from water system operation.

The city is also expecting approval of a grant from the Economic Development Administration for further water system improvements and extensions for a total estimated cost of $160,000.

Polls will be open from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m. in the old gymnasium in the east ward and in the city hall in the west ward.

East ward judges and clerks are Ted Mauk and P. B. Hawkins, judges, and Hattie Collier and Katherine Crosno, clerks; west ward, Ronnie Baker and Curtis Cross, judges, and Myrtle Ice and Jean Shamburger, clerks.

Plan Ahead

Take The Pet Along

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of three articles dealing with summer vacations. If leaving your pooch at home is akin to leaving your spouse at home, then we offer suggestions for taking him (the pet), too. Also included are pointers for those who would rather leave their animal kingdom behind.

By BARBARA HARRIS

After taking all necessary precautions to safeguard your home and its contents while on vacation, what are you going to do with the family pet?

Unless your pets are horses or hogs, consider taking that dog or cat with you. All it takes is planning and a little common sense and courtesy.

Big hotel and motel chains are usually friendly toward pet-owning travelers. In fact, many have kennels right on the premises. Of course, it is up to you, the pet's family, to check each stop in advance.

If camping is your thing, the regular camping guide books tell you which camping grounds and parks allow pets and under what conditions.

Once you have discovered where your pet will be accepted, be sure to make necessary arrangements ahead of time.

Be sure all inoculations are up to date. This includes rabies and distemper shots. Have a health certificate filled out by your veterinarian in case authorities request one. This is an especially good idea if you plan to cross any international boundaries.

Make all of your motel and hotel reservations ahead of time. This assures you and your pet of a good night's sleep.

If your animal is prone to be sick while traveling, be sure to have the proper medication on hand. Again, check ahead of time with your veterinarian about this.

Once you are ready to hit the road, take along the necessary food (especially if your pet is a fussy eater), grooming materials and leash. If the trip is to be a long one by car, carry a water dish and supply of water where you can get to them at any time.

When you arrive, watch your pet and be sure he does not "get into anything." Many hotels and motels use strong poisons to control pests. If you are camping, don't let your pet mingle with other animals at the campsite. You don't know where other animals have been or what diseases they may carry. Protect your pet from wild animals which could carry rabies.

Above all, don't impose your pet on other people — they may be on vacation to get away from their next door neighbor's unruly pet.

Respect restrictions against animals in restaurants and food markets. And don't take the laws out on waitresses or store clerks. They aren't the ones who made the laws.

Be prepared to pay for any damage your pet may do. He is on vacation, too, and it could well be he will get a rambunctious streak and, heaven knows, what could come of that!

Don't leave your pet alone in a motel room to cry and disturb other vacationers. Keep him with you as much as possible. Remember, he is a long way from home and doesn't know what the word "vacation" means. He probably will be frightened, so keep him reassured.

If you decide you would rather not face the hassles of traveling with your pet, be sure to make an appointment at a local kennel to be sure they will have room for your pet. Have the animal's health checked before you leave and take care of any problems while you are still there to comfort your pet.

If you leave your pet with friends, the above rules still apply and, unless you are paying your friends to board your pet, be sure to leave a good supply of pet food and other necessities with them.

If you only plan ahead and with your pet in mind, you both will have a pleasant vacation.

Pilot Hurt In Crash

NEW MADRID — A single-engine Pawnee aircraft ignited in mid-air last night at 8, crashed and burned on the E. B. Gee farm at the Henderson Mounds Community north of here.

Injured in the crash was the pilot, James B. Dolan, 32, of Lilbourn, who received burns and extensive bruises.

Dolan was admitted to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston where his condition is listed as satisfactory today.

Dolan said he was spraying soybeans and was about 50 feet above the ground when the plane caught fire. He could give no apparent reason for the incident.

The plane was destroyed.

JAMES B. DOLAN of Lilbourn piloted this single engine plane into a crash landing Monday at 8 p.m. on the E. B. Gee farm in the Henderson Mounds community. Dolan escaped serious injury.

A LIVING MEMORIAL

Every 24 hours almost three times your entire body weight in water and salts circulates through the human kidneys, whose 140 miles of filters and tubes perform a life- sustaining job of screening out the impurities and poisons lurking in the bloodstream.

Yet, for four percent of the world's population — and in the U.S. alone this year 8 million Americans — the kidneys won't work. Of those 8 million, 25,000 will die. Many, if not most of them, are in the prime of life, and could well be saved.

There is, first of all, the hope of hemodialysis, the cleansing of the bloodstream through an artificial kidney machine. There is also the transplantation of a healthy, donor kidney. You only need one.

One well- known victim of kidney failure was the late Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. Undersecretary- General for Political Affairs and peace- maker extraordinary (in the Middle East ,the Congo, Kashmir and Cyprus). Dr. Bunche died last December of a stroke.

What only a very few people knew, according to his friend, the former U.N. Secretary- General U Thant, was that the Nobel Laureate spent the last six months of his life hooked up to one of those artificial kidney machines. "Ralph received very intensive, very skillful care and realized how dreadfully expensive the whole thing was."

(According to Medical World News, only one of four Americans can afford to pay the $6-12,000 a year for hemodialysis; fewer still can pay for a $25,000 transplant.)

Bunche and Thant talked about the need for more trained physicians and the kind of research that would ultimately bring down the cost of both treatment and transplant to "affordable levels."

U Thant and several U.N. Ambassadors — including our own, George Bush — and a number of prominent Americans, have just set up a "Living memorial" to their friend, Dr. Bunche. They are seeking $2 million — $1 million of which will pay for a kidney intensive care unit at the famous New York Hospital — Cornell Medical Center, one of the world's pioneer in kidney transplants and renal dialysis. the other million would underwrite an International Fellowship Program that will bring to New York City physicians and nurses from around the globe for the most advanced training in kidney treatment. Both pavillion and fellowship programs would bear Ralph J. Bunche's name.

So far they have raised more than $300,000. U Thant will also welcome the very smallest donations — tax- deductible, of course — at his office at room 3853 at the United Nations, New York 10017. The checks should be made out to The Ralph Bunche Memorial.

This is one U.N. project that absolutely nobody will argue about.

GOVERNMENT
NOT THE ANSWER

To hear those spenders tell it, the United States has scandalously neglected "public needs" while gorging itself on consumer goods.

Such is the lengthy argument used some years ago by Harvard's John Kenneth Galbraith, revived in a recent dispute over pollution and environment, and continuously preached in legislative arguments here in Missouri as well as elsewhere.

On the presentation of the "needs" contingent , we have shamefully neglected out outlays on government services while blowing private dollars on a ravished environment, high- powered cars, color TV sets and assorted trivia.

A somewhat different view of the matter is provided by a statistical rundown in the Wall Street Journal, which shows that "public needs" have been gobbling up an increasing portion of the national substance at the expense of private consumers.

As portrayed in the Journal's figures, indeed, the growth of government at every level in our society has been truly staggering -- suggesting it is time for sharp curtailment of public spending and not its increase.

Since 1929, for example, the gross national product of the United States has increased tenfold -- from $103 billion to more than $1 trillion -- for an impressive record of growth. But during the same span total government spending has increased by a cool 4,000 per cent - from $8.5 billion to $233.1 billion. Put another way, while the GNP has increased 10 times, government outlays have increased 27 times.

Another method of examining the question is to note the number of people on public payrolls compared to those in private employment. In 1929 there were some 28,274,000 American in private employment, and by 1971 this figure had risen to 57,836,000. In the same span, what has happened to government jobs? In 1929 there were 3,065,000 people on government payrolls. Last year there were 12,853,000. Private employment has gone up 104 per cent -- government employment 319 per cent.

The same thing holds for the nation's welfare population. Since 1960 the U.S. population has increased by 15 per cent-- but the number of people on welfare has increased by more than 100 per cent, and now stands at more than 14 million.

Quite clearly the "public" and therefore non-productive sector of our society is growing by leaps and bounds at the expense of the privates and productive part. In light of that profligate record, inadequate government services quite plainly reflect the fact that government is an inadequate instrument for getting things done.

The question ... involves the very fabric of the enforcement of law and order in America." Then the Congressional Record reprinted an editorial from KNBC television in Los Angeles which went on to say: "We feel that granting amnesty without any penalties would be encouraging people to select which laws they want too support and which they don't. We think that's an impossible way to run a republic.

SELF-TRANSFUSION
OF BLOOD

The worst hazards of blood transfusion during surgery may now be avoided by the simple expedient of using the patient's own blood instead of someone else's. So- called autologous transfusion involves withdrawing a pint of blood from the patient before surgery, and then giving him large intravenous doses of iron and other nutrients to make up for the loss. If more than one unit of blood is considered necessary for the operation, as many as three or four units may be withdrawn, followed by the blood- feeding regimen, so long as the blood will not be more than three weeks old when it is returned to its donor.

The chief advantage of self- transfusion is that it eliminates the risk of hepatitis. An estimated 30,000 Americans a year contract transfusion- connected hepatitis, and 1,500 or more of them die of the disease, according to a 1970 National Research Council study. Another risk eliminated would be that of the incompatibility of blood cells.

While not every candidate for surgery would be eligible for the procedure, it nevertheless presents at this time the most hopeful prospect for blood-banking improvement. Since two- thirds of all transfusions are administered during and after surgery, wider acceptance of autologous transfusion would greatly reduce the pressure on the common store of blood for emergency cases.

The Association of American Blood Banks has appointed a committee, headed by Dr. Daniel Rosenstein of San Antonio, Texas, to study autologous transfusion and develop guidelines on managing the procedure for the use of the medical profession. The committee will report on its study at an international transfusion congress to be held in Washington later this summer. Some doctors are so enthusiastic about the blood - feeding possibilities that they believe it can eliminate the necessity of transfusing any blood at all in some cases. "Bloodless surgery" has proved a godsend for members of Jehovah's Witnesses, whose religion forbids the transfer of blood from one person to another.

During a hike in the woods a troop of boy scouts came across an abandoned section of railroad track. Each, in turn, tried walking the rails but eventually lost his balance and tumbled off.

Suddenly two of the boys, after considerable whispering, offered to bet that they could both walk the entire length of the track without falling off. Challenged to make good their boast, the two boys jumped up on opposite rails, extended a hand to balance each other, and walked the entire section of track with no difficulty whatever.

There, in a nutshell, is the principle of modern business and community living. The day of the hermit and lone wolf are gone forever. We do things better, we produce more, and we live better by helping each other. The fellow who lends a helping hand benefits himself at the same time as he helps the other fellow.

The reverse is also true. When we don't help each other, when we don't cooperate, the whole system starts to rattle and shake.

The difference between a good company and a poor one, an effective department and an inefficient one, is often reflected in the cooperation, or lack of it, among the people who work there. When people help each other, freely and voluntarily, there's a spirit of teamwork that makes a department or company really go — a pleasure to be associated with. When there's no cooperation — no spirit of the helping hand freely given — what might have been pleasant jobs become grudging chores.

Do you recall when Edmund Hillary and his native guide, Tenzing, made their historic climb of Mt. Everest? Coming down from the peak Hillary suddenly lost his footing. Tenzing held the line taut and kept them both from falling by digging his ax into the ice. Later Tenzing refused any special credit for saving Hillary's life; he considered it a routine part of the job. As he put it: "Mountain climbers always help each other."

Should the rest of us be any different?

DOWD'S OPPORTUNISM

Edward Dowd, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, has gone on record in opposition to a right too work law in Missouri.

The pro- labor stand was announced during an address in May before a Carpenter's union district council meeting.

In his address, Mr. Dowd said:

"Always latent in Missouri is the chance that labor's enemies will propose a 'right to work' law. Such a law ... would result in the death of unions as we know them today, and must never be allowed to become law in Missouri. I am totally against such a law, and if it is introduced in the legislature of Missouri, I will use the full power of my office to defeat it. If it passed over my opposition, I will veto it."

Mr. Dowd then went on to endorse the right of public employees to join unions and to strike; to endorse creation of a state Department of Labor; to back a state minimum wage law; and several other labor "goodies."

While at one time we had thought highly of Mr. Dowd as a candidate, we now believe he should be ruled out of serious contention.

A "right to work" law is one of the state's most crying needs.

It would prevent the unions from forcing unwilling workers to pay union dues in exchange for the privilege of working for a given industry.

It would put Missouri back in the national market for economic development, at a time when the state is trying without much success to compete for new jobs with states which have right to work laws.

It would help restore the balance between labor and management which, in the last three decades, has tipped decisively and, we might add, disastrously, in favor of the unions.

Mr. Dowd's political opportunism we do not need in Missouri.

OUR ALLIES STILL FIGHT

A strike force of South Vietnamese suddenly hit the communist troops gathered north of Hue for a massive assault on the old capital. The idea was to disrupt enemy preparations for the attack and relieve the pressure on the embattled city. Only time will measure the success of the action of the South Vietnamese in the swirling warfare in Indochina but we can look upon the strike by our allies as evidence that they are not to be written off yet. Despite the propaganda of the left-wing and the cries of the pessimists, our brave allies still are imbued with the spirit of the offense, even under the weight of the great North Vietnamese offensive.

Many people in this country and elsewhere in the world went into panic and a state of misgiving about our situation when the communists launched the Tet offensive in 1968. High military and diplomatic officials in Washington suddenly were convinced that there was no hope for South Vietnam. Our allies and the brave forces of the U.S. proved the skeptics wrong. Now the South Vietnamese, fighting with the support of U.S. Air and Naval forces, are striking back at a determined communist foe and despite heavy losses are not showing panic. They are fighting with determination to protect Hue, the old capital city that means so much to them.

The South Vietnamese know what communism means and they don't want it. They are fighting and many have died rather than go into communist slavery. Regardless of the propaganda line of the ultra-left, the forces of Saigon have set a glittering record of patriotism and we should hail their efforts. The outcome of the struggle is still in doubt but the will of the South Vietnamese to win just may turn the tide yet.

Inside Labor

McGovern on the phone: confidentially offers peace to party labor chiefs; pruged by followers he calls 'uncontrollable'

MIAMI — With uncharacteristic humility, Sen. McGovern has been on the long distance telephone all this past week with powerful, albeit momentarily purged, Democratic leaders, county chairmen who were defeated in primary races, et. al., reporting to them that he has been unable to control his troops.

His recurrent theme is his desire for party unity – with old-line leaders, with the professional party people and with the labor movement -- especially with labor movement.

Typical is one such conversation. The South Dakotan was on "the farm in Maryland" during the Fourth of July weekend when he asked his chief counsellor, Frank Mankiewicz, to telephone some of the New York State County leaders who were brashly wiped off the big state's convention delegation by McGovern's youthful reform brigades.

Without wide labor and county machine support in this swing state, McGovern can't carry it -- and if he doesn't take New York he might as well relax in the Black Hills. So Mankiewicz phoned the blondish, fortyish Irishman, Pat Cunningham, the Bronx County leader. Frank suggested he call McGovern "on the farm." The candidate would like to hear from him.

Cunningham is a blend of old Joe Kennedy-Jack Kennedy politics updated. Like 57 other New York county leaders, he was deprived of his place in the convention delegation. But he rang "the farm." McGovern answered. There was some confidential talk which doesn't matter here. Then McGovern urged Cunningham to come on down to Miami. There would be a Convention Hall badge, certainly. And he asked what could be done to unite the party after he got the nomination.

Cunningham listened respectfully. Then he suggested a 25-man national unity committee which could spread across the land preaching internal peace – men such as former New York Mayor Robert Wagner and former Ambassador Averell Harriman.

McGovern replied this was simply a grand idea, especially since he was having difficulty, said he, controlling his young followers who are purge-impassioned.

At this writing Cunningham still is in the Bronx – waiting to see if Ted Kennedy used that plane which is standing by near Hyannisport. Then everyone will go to Florida.

McGovern's people have not given up trying to get Ted to take second place – particularly since their private polls disclose that the only two men who would add strength to a McGovern ticket are Kennedy and George Wallace.

Without a Ted Kennedy or an Abe Ribicoff in second place, the drive for unity with George Meany's labor forces will move with the speed of a snow plow in the Everglades. But McGovern and Mankiewicz, however, have a strategy for salving the "Meany movement's" sensitivities. The strategy is called Humphrey.

McGovern reckons Hubert Humphrey would not turn his back on an old friend, a once devoted compatriot and the man who jumped to the Chicago convention platform to rally forces for HHH in '68. That man is McGovern.

So when the Miami heat is off, McGovern's game plan calls for asking Sen. Humphrey to be ambassador to the angry labor leaders now up the beach at the Hotel Americanna. Humphrey has been in constant touch with Meany and his podium-thumping, money-raising, Nixon-hating political director Al Barkan, the AFL-CIO's 62-year -old Jim Farley.

If it all goes as McGovern plans it, I do believe Hubert Humphrey will be McGovern's ambassador behind the scenes if not actually right out front. He would go to the United Steel Workers' president I.W. "Abe" Abel, labor's convention floor leader and Humphrey's intimate friend. They would bring McGovern and Meany together.

This McGovern needs desperatley, regardless of his effectively cool derision of all establishments.

Few realize as well as McGovern does the role the labor establishment has played in making him a successful politician instead of a dull professor writing an esoteric thesis on the 1913 Ludlow Massacre. McGovern himself said as much right in this town shortly before noon last Nov. 19.

Then he had followed Richard Nixon to the AFL—CIO convention platform. Fifteen times the thousand delegates had applauded his needling of the President. They cheered when he said: "One lesson I have learned in politics.... is that it is not only enough to be right on the issues; you have to organize to get your message across and to get your people to the polls...I want to say this morning that we are endebted to labor's COPE (Committee on Political Education), to Al Barkan and to others for much of the success we have enjoyed in our (Republican) state. But the nation's real experts on organization... are here in this auditorium."

With their help, said he in effect, he could retire John Connally, Sprio Agnew and Richard Nixon.

McGovern's a pro. That's why he has been proffering peace and political bandaids. His amateurs really cut up his party.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

MIAMI BEACH — George McGovern still stubbornly believes that Sen. Ted Kennedy will accept second place on his ticket.

McGovern has told his top aides that he doesn't think Kennedy would turn down a strong personal appeal to serve.

Campaign treasurer Henry Kimelman, who encouraged McGovern to make the race when others said he didn't have a chance, is also convinced McGovern can talk Kennedy into taking the vice presidential nomination. Kimelman came to Miami Beach last Thursday solicitng odds on a McGovern-Kennedy ticket.

But Meyer Feldman, who leads the McGovern for President campaign organization, is more skeptical. As one of the late President Kennedy's most trusted advisers and an intimate in good standing of the last surviving brother, Feldman has already made a pitch to Kennedy to take the second spot on a McGovern ticket.

Kennedy agreed to campaign for McGovern and made specific suggestions how he could best help to elect McGovern. But the senator from Massachusetts firmly rejected any possibility of accepting the vice presidential nomination.

The Kennedys have a strong sense of family loyalty and Ted Kennedy is now head of the clan. He feels keenly his responsibility to be a strong father figure to his own three children and his late brother Robert's 11 children.

The senator noted that it was a difficult time for young people to sort our their values. The children, he said, had first call on his time.

Footnote: Kennedy took off for Massachusetts where he will spend convention week. Aides confide, however, that he's keeping open the option of making a "surprise" appearance at the convention. Some top aides came to Miami Beach where they have cautiously sounded out delegates about drafting Kennedy as the standard bearer if a stalemate should develop between McGovern and the Stop McGovern forces. This undercover effort has been so loosely organized, however, that it obviously doesn't have Kennedy's personal direction.

UNPREDICTABLE MCCARTHY

Eugene McCarthy, the hero of the young and the unwashed at the 1968 Democratic donnybrook, has switched sides at the 1972 convention. He has promised to support his 1968 adversary, Hubert Humphrey, of all people.

Intimates say the erstwhile pied piper of Chicago resents losing his following to George McGovern. Back in 1968, McCarthy used to tell his associates he was four years too early. The new political tide would crest, he predicted, in 1972. But now McGovern is riding the tide and McCarthy has been stranded on the shoals.

Shortly before the crucial California primary, McCarthy showed up at Hubert Humphrey's apartment. The quixotic McCarthy was fairly bristling with hostility toward McGovern. McCarthy called McGovern a "newcomer" to the antiwar movement, expressed distrust to McGovern's foreign policy and promised to back Humphrey in California.

The only thing predictable about McCarthy is his unpredictability. But even Humphrey was startled to read a few days later that McCarthy had endorsed McGovern in California.

But on the eye of the convention, McCarthy was back in touch with Humphrey's aides. Again, McCarthy declared he didn't want McGovern to become president and faithfully promised to speak out for Humphrey on the convention floor.

NEW WALLACE ATTITUDE

The labor chieftains, who have bitterly fought Alabama's Gov. George Wallace for the loyalty of the blue-collar voters, show signs of softening their attitude.

Alarmed over Wallace's popularity in blue-collar neighborhoods, the unions campaigned against him in 1968 and again in the 1972 primaries.

The Alabama Labor Council took the lead in proclaiming Wallace's antilabor record in Alabama. The council pointed out that Alabama was one of only eight states with no state minimum wage law, that Alabama allows a low maximum payment of only $55 a week in workmen's compensation and unemployment benefits.

But the council, apparently, has now received new signals. Aides of Sen. Ed Muskie were among the first to detect the change. They reported to Muskie in a private memo:

"The Alabama Labor Council, which strongly criticized Wallace's labor record in the past, believes that, in 1972, Wallace 'went right down the line for labor.'

"This comes from Barney Weeks, who is head of the state labor Council. He feels that Wallace was very important in achieving gains in workmen's comp, unemployment comp and occupational health and safety.

"The labor Council opposed Wallace on minimum wage and on the property tax classification package in 1971, but in general Weeks says: 'You cannot fault him this year."

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people on rainy afternoons like to go to the bank, take out their safe-deposit boxes and count their stocks and bonds. They come home pleased that nothing is missing.

I'd like to be able to do be able to do that with my socks. In fact, for some time I've been thinking of doing just that—renting a safe-deposit box at the bank to keep my supply of socks intact.

The only reason I don't rent the safe-deposit box is that I don't trust banks that much. I don't think they can build a bank vault big enough or strong enough to keep out the mysterious predator who has been preying on my socks for as long as I can remember.

The problem of vanishing socks has been bothering me since early childhood. As the sleepiest of four staircase Irish sons, I was the last to get up— usually to find only one stock remaining to put on.

The culprit who made off with the missing sock was never apprehended, and the whole matter is a family mystery to this day. My older brother stoutly denies that he put on three socks just to confuse me. In any case I was known in the neighborhood as "Little One Sock," a nickname I came to despise.

One of the reasons I was glad to grow up and get a college degree was my thought that no one would dare try to steal socks from anyone that educated. But that proved to be an illusion.

Since then, through a major depression, a world war, a long boom, inumerable riots, and travel in some 67 countries, someone or something has been rustling my socks. I believe this is a world record of some kind. Do you know any other person who has had at least one sock stolen from him in 67 countries?

For some time I thought the guilty party must be one-footed, as usually he took only one of a pair of socks, but I can't recall that my life has been dogged by any individual hopping along after me on a single foot. Anyway, his modus operandi has changed lately. Now he takes my socks haphazardly—sometimes just one, sometimes both.

The other rainy afternoon I spent a couple of hours inventorying my sock drawer.

It was with some satisfaction that I noted I had 45 matching pairs of socks. I could now wear a fresh change of socks every day for a whole month and a half without having to rush to the laundry. That may not be much of a claim to fame for a man my age, but looky here, smarty, you go and count how many pairs of socks you have in your socks drawer, and I'll bet you wipe that smirk off your face pretty fast.

What gave me some sorrow, however, was to note that in addition to the 45 pairs of socks I had left over seven single unmatching socks.

Some problems a man in this life simply has to face all alone.

Malden Merchants Asked About City Sales Tax

MALDEN — Chamber of Commerce member Bill Johnson last night presented City Council members with survey findings concerning a one-cent city sales tax.

The survey was conducted among downtown merchants and revealed that of 65 questioned, 23 per cent disagreed with the proposal, 10.5 per cent agreed and 12 per cent stated they had not given a city sales tax any thought. Another 18.5 per cent requested additional information and 17 per cent refushed to reply.

Following a discussion, the council hired a former Bernie policeman, Carroll McGowen, to the Malden police force.

A decision was tabled concerning annexation of land owned by Don Gregory in the southwest section of thycity.

Kiefner Brothers, Inc., contractors for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., was given permission to expand the telephone building which extends onto the library parking lot, provided the builders restore any damage to the parking lot incurred during construction.

Violation penalties were provided for in ordinances concerning regulations on use of public and private sewers, drains sewer disposals and wastes filtering into public sewers.

A second ordinance passed prohibits burning at any time in the downtown fire zone and burning after 6 p.m. for residents.

Doyle Burge of the Industrial Park committee resigned from that position, and the council approved appointment of Ray Bess to fill the vacancy.

The council requested City Attorney Gordon Fritz to draw up an ordinance for the next council meeting which would limit rummage sales in the city.

The council also requested that a local property owner, J. F. Farris, be requested to clean up his property in the southwest section of town.

Rumors Of Eagleton For VP

MIAMI BEACH AP - Sam Hamra Jr., of Springfield, who supposedly strained his longtime political association with Gov. Hearnes when he declared for Sen. George McGovern two months ago, claimed today it is "all over but the shouting" for McGovern to wrap up the Democratic presidential nomination.

And, Hamra contended U.S. Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri is under serious consideration as a vice presidential running mate of McGovern.

"I do know that Sen. McGovern is seriously considering Sen. Eagleton," said Hamra, "and I think Missouri deserves the vice presidency.

"I am confident Sen. McGovern will get the nomination, and in looking for a vice presidential candidate to supplement his ticket, I believe Sen. Eagleton would be an excellent choice."

Hamra, who declared for McGovern on May 30 after being elected a Missouri delegate to the national Democratic convention in an uncommitted status, said he hoped to arrange a meetng with McGovern today-presumably to not only plot balloting strategy for Wednesday night but to talk about Eagleton.

Eagleton and U.S. Sen. Stuart Symington, the state's senior senator, disclosed Monday aftemoon they would support the McGovern challenge to the seating of 151 non-McGovern candidates from California-and they did early today.

But Eagleton dismissed talk that he perhaps was under consideration as a vice presidential running mate. "I'm sure each candidate has a large number of potential running mates under study," he said.

Eagleton and Symington took their own votes and 2½ others away from the uncommitted and Muskie factions of the Missouri delegation.

Voting to restore the 151 votes to McGovern, which the Credentials Committee had stripped from him to reflect the popular vote in the California primary, were the 18 McGovern-declared delegates, plus Eagleton, Symington, Paul Berra of St. Louis, George Lehr of Kansas City and Brunson Hollingsworth of Hillsboro. Hollingsworth had the half vote.

Eagleton, Symington and Lehr have said they will vote for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie on the first ballot Wednesday night, while Berra and Hollingsworth were uncommitted.

The two senators said they remain pledged to Muskie as long as he remains a candidate.

Weingarten Man Killed In Collision

SAINTE GENEVIEVE, Mo. (AP) — A Weingarten, Mo. man was killed Monday when he was hit by another car as he attempted to make a left- turn, the highway patrol said.

The dead man was identified as Harry Grafton Scott, 76.

The driver of the other car and a passenger in the car were taken to The Ste. Genevieve County hospital. The patrol said the injured were, Joan Elise Weber, 16, of Sainte Genevieve, driver of the car and Terri Milfelt, 12, also of Sainte Genevieve.

Basler Now Taking Job Applications

CHARLESTON — Basler Electric Company, idled for three months because of striking union workers, began taking applications Friday for positions in assembly, winding, painting and other manufacturing duties.

David Brauns, plant manager, said Monday a "fair amount" of people had submitted applications, but he would not give a date when plant production would begin.

"That decision is up to the home office in Highland, Ill.," Brauns added.

Basler Electric manufactures transformers.

When asked about recent phone calls and harassment, Brauns said management personnel have had "none to speak of."

The Bay of Bengal, with a shoreline of 2,250 miles, is the largest bay in the world.

Pemiscot Voters Go To Polls

Pemiscot County voters will settle two issues at the polls today as Holland residents elect a new mayor and Steele residents decide on annexation of a proposed nursing home and residential area in Stephens Addition.

The special mayoral race in Holland was called June 20 by Circuit Court Judge William L. Ragland as a result of controversy concerning the April 4 regular election. In that polling, Incumbent Mayor William Biggs and his challenger Earl Hawkins were separated by one vote in a 67-66 final count with each contending he was the winner.

Dexter Man Bound Over

BLOOMFIELD — Clarence Gay of Dexter was bound over to Stoddard County Circuit Court Monday by Judge Koss Blomeyer in Magistrate Court on two counts of stealing at least $50 and two counts of sodomy.

Gay was arrested June 20 by Essex police and the Stoddard County sheriff's department after a minibike, chain saw and numerous bicycles were found at a shack in Essex where Gay was living.

Petition For Liquor By Drink

A petition drive got under way today to force an election to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink in Sikeston.

City officials say they are in the dark about the petition. However, some have said in the past they felt the liquor by the drink issue would arise here soon.

Mrs. Cecil Mae Quertermous, 322 Benton, began circulating petitions this morning. She refused any comment on the matter.

City Attorney Kenneth Dement said the question cannot appear on the Aug. 8 primary election ballot because of the lack of time between now and the election. Dement said a special election would have to be called.

The action in Sikeston follows by one month a successful drive to legalize liquor by the drink in Charleston.

Ann Landers

Too Much Togetherness Can Stifle Individual Growth

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to "Fraidy Kat" gave me the courage I needed to write about a problem that has been bothering me for a long time.

"Fraidy Kat" was a widow whose second husband carried his first wife's picture in his wallet for two years. She was afraid to look and see if it was still there. It made her very sad that he couldn't give it up. You said, "Don't look. Simply buy him a new wallet and put your picture in it."

Three years ago I married a widower. Quite by accident I ran across his first wife's ashes in our garage. The ashes are in an urn, packed in a box -- the same box they were shipped in by the state.

I feel uneasy about this but I've never said anything. I believe the best place for the ashes is in a cemetery. What should I do? ---Second Wife.

Dear S.W.: Inform your husband that you have come across the "box" and you feel the garage is not an appropriate place for it. Tell him that many people who request cremation ask that their ashes be strewn over a lake, or a river, or a favorite meadow. A friend of mine has requested that her ashes be put in an urn and placed in the Pump Room in Chicago -- and I'm not kidding.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been married for three years to a man who never was much of a talker but I've always had the feeling the quiet fellows are the real-hell-raisers. Now it appears my hunch may be right.

I just discovered what I thought was his mother's recipe box --- one of those wooden, kitchen-type index files -- jammed with names, addresses, telephone numbers, dimensions, and a few comments which appear to be performance ratings.

I have not told my husband I found it. Should I? He never goes anyplace without me (that I know of) and I have no reason to suspect that he is seeing anyone. But I'm baffled as to why he hangs on to the junk if he has no use for it. What should I do? --Wands

Dear Wan: Keep your pea-pickin' hands off your husband's property. He probably keeps it for the same reason some women hang on to their old high school and college relics.

Dear Ann Landers: This isn't a serious problem, but it bugs me because I know something is wrong and I'm not sure what should be done about it.

Peter and I plan to be married within the next six months. We have lunch together every day and we meet every evening after work. We eat dinner together almost every night and visit till midnight or 1 :00 a.m. On weekends we spend all our time together.

So what's bad about that? Nothing, except I suddenly realized when I started to think about plans for the wedding that I don't have any girl friends. For the last three years I've been saying no to everybody but Peter. The girls I work with are nice but I never see them except in the office. We are all busy during working hours, so there's no time to get acquainted.

Do you feel I am making a mistake? To be truthful I'd rather be with Peter than anybody, but maybe this isn't the best thing for our relationship. Please guide me. --Love Him Best

Dear Love: You and Peter will enjoy each other more if you broaden your acquaintanceship to include others. Start by having lunch every other day with some of the girls. And one evening a week you and Peter should go your separate ways for some activity -- cultural, political, atheltic, intellectual. You'll be more intersting to one another. Too much togetherness can stifle individual growth.

Can drugs be a friend in time of stress? If you keep your head together can they be of help? Ann Landers' new booklet,"Straight Dope On Drugs," separates the fact from the fiction. Get it today. For each booklet ordered send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (16cents postage) to Ann Landers, Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

1,877 Children Grow Gardens

A total of 1,877 children in the Bootheel area are growning gardens as part of the Little Green Thumb Garden program sponsored by the University of Missouri Extension Centers in six counties. Tours were made of some of these gardens Friday.

There are 191 enrolled in Scott County; 576 in Stoddard County; 389 in Mississippi County; 206 in New Madrid County; 210 in Pemiscot County; and 305 in Dunklin County.

The program is designed to teach youngsters the value of good nutrition and to help them develop the pride of ownership and production.

The program is conducted by two extension home economists, Areva Abernathy of Benton and Mattie Aslin of Kennett. Field work on the county and individual family level is supervised by 22 foods and nutrition assistants. Three or four of these assistants are employed in each of the six counties. Area youth staff members also assist with the program. The program is coordinated by Bill Purnell of Charleston, area youth specialist.

Mrs. Freeman LeSieur and daughter, Camille, arrived Monday for a visit with her son, F. N. LeSieur.

Announcement. An announcement I am pleased to make, and one I feel sure will be acceptable to the automobile public: Wm. (Bill) Henley and Elza Lepley are now in full charge of our repair department. Rate 80 cents per hour. Louis C. Erdmann.

Beginning today, passenger trains 431 and 432 on the Missouri Pacific between Poplar Bluff and Cairo will be discontinute indefinitely. One round trip per day between Bird's Point and Poplar Bluff will be made, going east at the usual time in the morning and returning in the evening. Shortage of coal is given as the reason though it is suspected that the striking shop mechanics has more to do with it.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Battling Fireman

By Jack Strauss, LL. B.

When Howard's house caught fire, Howard watched optimistically as firemen from nearby Blazeville quickly appeared on the scene prepared to battle the flames. The only battling they did, however, was with the firemen from Sparkshill who arrived shortly thereafter.

Claiming that Howard's house was in Sparkskill, and actually it was, they insisted that the smoke-eaters from Blazeville go home since it was up to them to put out the fire.

By the time the argument ended, however, Howard's poor house was only a smoldering memory. Outraged, he sued the City of Sparkskill for the loss of his home.

"If its firemen had concentrated on fighting fires instead of other firemen," he fumed, "my house would still be standing today. It was pure carelessness. They fiddled around while my home was burned."

"Argument or no argument," was the defense, "Sparkskill isn't liable. Under the law, it's well estabished that a city cannot be held responsible for negligently failing to put out a fire. Therefore, Howard's lawsuit must be dismissed."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you dismiss homeless Howard's lawsuit?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that while Sparkskill might not be liable for negligently failing to put out Howard's fire, it can be held liable for wrongfully preventing the firemen from Blazeville from putting out the fire. (Based on a 1962 New York Supreme Court Decision)

Grease Ball Charge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rest of the nation may be into the "dry look," but as far as Chicago Manager Chuck Tanner is concerned, Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians still digs greasy kid stuff.

"Listen, I respect any manger who's trying to win—and that's what Tanner is trying to do," Perry said after spinning a four-hitter for his 14th victory of the season, a 2-1 triumph over the White Sox Monday night which Tanner protested.

In other American League games, Kansas City edged Baltimore 3-2, Detroit defeated Texas 8-3, Minnesota blizted Milwaukee 8-1, California nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 and Boston beat Oakland 42.

In the abbreviated National League schedule, San Francisco turned back the New York Mets 5-4, Montreal beat San Diego 6-3 and, in a twinight doubleheader, Los Angeles beat Philadelphia 6-4 in 11 innings before the Phillies won the nightcap 9-1.

Perry, who tied Detroit's Mickey Lolich as the winningest pitcher in the majors this season—with a little help from Mickey's cousin, Ron—has never admitted to putting anything on the baseball except spi... spin.

At one time or another, an awful lot of batters have said Perry's pitches have more spit than spin—or some other illegal substance. Tanner insists it's grease. And he was so sure of it Monday night that, after 2½ innings, he told plate umpire Bill Haller he was playing the game under protest.

"That's Tanner's privilege to protest if he wants, and that's what I told him on the field," Haller explained. "It's a matter of judgment—and in my judgment, Perry wasn't doing anything illegal."

But Tanner had different ideas. "If we don't win the protest," he fumed, "Perry will be allowed to use his grease ball all the time. And if he is, everybody else will be allowed to do the same. There'll be a rush on the market for the jelly he uses."

Graig Nettles' sacrifice fly gave the Indians their first run in the first inning, then Ron Lolech provided what proved to be the winner in the fourth with his first major league home run. The White Sox picked up an unearned run in the sixth.

SPORT SHORTS

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jets of the National Football League have announced the hiring of Mike Holovak as a talent scout for a five-state area for a scouting combine with the Houston Oilers and Denver Broncos.

Holovak, replacing Jimmy Jones, was head coach of the Boston Patriots from 1961-68 and was named American Football League Coach of the Year in 1966. Last year, he was a receiver coach for the Oakland Raiders.

FOXBORO Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots have signed five more veteran players for the 1972 National Football League season.

The Patriots announced Monday the signing of wide receivers Reggie Rucker and Eric Crabtree, tight end Roland Moss, kicking specialist Charlie Gogolak and offensive tackle Mike Montler.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Fred Gehrke was named winner today of the fest Pioneer Award at the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Gehrke, a former Rams halfback who introduced the use of team symbols on football helmets, will be honored July 28 at a civic banquet on the eve of the annual hall of fame enshrinement ceremonies.

The Pioneer Award was established this year to honor the memory of the late Dan Reeves, long-time owner of the Rams.

Sikeston Wrestlers Place In Olympics

JACKSON, Mo. — The wrestling faction of the Junior Olympics opened competition Saturday afternoon at Jackson with eight Sikeston representatives bringing home four firsts, two seconds and one third, as only one did not place.

Sikeston competed with boys from a wide area with the grapplers being placed in senior, intermediate, midget and junior divisions. Division age groups were senior, 15-18; intermediate, 13-14; junior 11-12, and midget, 10 and under.

Wesley English, weighing in at 115 pounds took a first place in the senior division. Ron Shell, at 115, brought home a third in the senior division. Scott Hutchison, 112, Robert Shaffer, 123, and Rick Thompson, 118, all topped their opponents for first place honors in the intermediate division. Ron Priday took intermediate second place weighing in at 118 and Gaylon Couch had an intermediate second place at 148 pounds. Brad Priday represented Sikeston in the midget division at 54 pounds but did not place.

John Heacox is the wrestling coach.

Sam Giambelluca, regional director of the National AAU, stated, "It is still undecided if a regional meet will be held but if it is bypassed, the senior division men will advance to national competition at Birmingtham, Ala.

Tryout Monday

POPLAR BLUFF — A tryout camp for baseball players will be conducted by the Cincinnati Reds next Monday at Wheatley Park. The camp is open to boys from 16 to 22 years old. High school sophomores and juniors are also urged to attend.

Reds' Scouting Supervisor Chet Montgomery will oversee the tryout, which is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Montgomery will be assisted by scouts Jim Dawson, Bill Bradshaw and Cluster Williams.

All eligible players are requested to furnish their own personal gear -- shoes, uniforms and gloves. The Reds will provide bats and baseballs.

In addition, players will be responsible for traveling and living expenses, if any unless they are signed to contracts with Cincinnati Reds organization teams.

Players must be 16 years of age to be eligible and all American Legion players must have written approval from their Legion coaches or post commanders if attendance at the tryout is in direct conflict with American Legion activities.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Umpire Henry C. "Shag" Crawford has been granted a temporary leave of absence from the National League because of illness and has returned to his home at Havertown, Pa., President Charles S. Feeney said Monday.

Crawford became ill during a game at Cincinnati over the weekend. He joined the league at the start of the 1956 season and now is fourth in seniority.

Musial, American League Leaders Triumph

MUSIAL LEAGUE — Collins Construction grabbed a full two-game lead over Malone and Hyde Monday night with a 16-8 win in Musial league play. The 15-hit triumph sent the Constructioneers record to a 9-1 mark, tops in the Musial League East Malone and Hyde trials in the standings with a 7-3 mark and was idle last night.

In the first game Nunnelee rocketed by Todd Laundry, 24-7, and kept the Musial League West a three-way race for the divisional title. Nunnelee (7-3) trails Bank of Sikeston and Kingsway, who share the lead with 8-2 marks.

Nunnelee's winning hurler, Glaus, collected four hits as his reliever, Ratledge, assisted with three hits to pace the winner's at the plate. Four teammates added two hits each in the Nunnelee attack. Grady picked up three hits to pace Todd Laundry's 13-hit lineup. Bell was tagged with the defeat.

In the nightcap Collins' lineup shocked Brothers Club pitching for 15 hits as Self paced the Collins' hitters with three safeties. Box picked up the win.

Ferrell, R. Howard and Whitlock each had two hits for the Brothers.

AMERICAN LEAGUE — Fabick picked up a 21-2 win over Flower Basket on only five hits and kept its first place slot in the American League East in Monday night's nightcap. In the earlier contest, Sealtest picked up its second win of the year with an 18-8 triumph over Bridger.

Fabick's Keefer and relief hurler Launius each batted two hits in the winners' five-hit lineup. An 11-run second inning capped the division leader's four-inning win, and an additional eight markers in the third frame extended the Fabick margin. Campbell picked up the win on a one-hitter as Flower Bakset's losing pitcher, Overby, collected the lone Basket hit.

In the 18-8 Sealtest win, Lane paced the winners with three hits and Murphy and Cross each added two hits to the winning lineup. A 13-run, second frame put the Sealtest squad into the lead for good after trailing 7-1 in the top half. D. Holifield paced the Bridger batters with three hits. Foster added two safeties.

NATIONAL LEAGUE — After Lions scored two runs in the bottom half of the seventh inning, Security National hurler, Standridge, fanned three straight batters to secure a 5-4 decision. Pizza Inn's Marks fired a one hit shut-out in the second game as the Inn downed A & B Leasing, 11-0.

Security National scored three runs in the top half of the seventh inning to break a 2-2 deadlock and checked the Lions' rally to pick up the closely fought contest. Standridge had two of the Bankers' four hits while Elledge collected two of the Lions' five safeties.

In the Pizza Inn lineup, Burrows and Smith each had two hits. White spoiled the no-hitter with the lone safety in the A & B lineup.

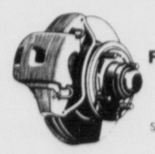
Pinto Wagon: $2265*
We put a lot into it.
You can put a lot in it.

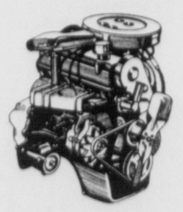
What you can put in: over 60 cubic feet. Put the rear seat down and there's 60.6 cubic feet of carrying space. For comparison: VW Squareback and Vega Kammback both give you a bit over 50 cubic feet.

The basic $2265* model. It's the ideal choice for people who want an economy car that carries more —or a wagon that costs less. The white sidewall tires (shown here) are $28.00

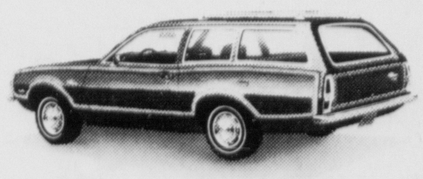
Some Details.
1. The lift gate swings up and out of the way.
2. The rear passenger windows flip open.
3. The spare tire doesn't take up any load room because it has its own well under the floor. And beneath it all, the rear suspension is specially designed for load carrying.



Front Disc Brakes. Standard. And there's precise rack-and-pinion steering, which is normally found only in some of the more expensive sports cars.



2000cc Overhead Cam Engine. It's rugged, economical, peppy—and standard equipment. A 4-speed floor mounted all-synchromesh transmission is also standard.



The Squire Option. That distinctive wood-sided wagon look, plus wheel covers, special trim, and more. No other economy wagon offers anything like it. Price with the Squire Option: $2479.* The luggage rack is $45.53 extra. The white sidewall tires $28.00.

*Sticker Price. Excludes dealer preparation charges, if any, destination charges, title and taxes.

Better idea for safety . . . buckle up!

Delay Drink Tax Ruling

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's secretary of state is waiting for an answer from sponsors of the soft drink tax amendment before ruling on a legal challenge lodged by Rep. Thomas D. Graham, DJefferson City.

Ted Scott, head of the Citizens Committee for Conservation, which gathered 163,620 signatures on petitions, said he would file a memorandum this week.

The petition drive seeks to place on the November ballot a constitutional amendment setting a one-cent per bottle tax on soft drinks sold in Missouri. The money, expected to be about $21 million a year, would go to the State Department of Conservation for purchase of land to be preserved as natural habitat areas.

Secy. of State James C. Kirkpatrick, who held a hearing Monday in his office, said he would take the challenge under advisement. Any court hurdles must be cleared by petition drives by Sept., 1, he said. The election is Nov. 7.

Graham said he found no fault with the petition's cause, but he opposes it's constitutionality.

Graham said the petition was illegal in that it covered more than one subject, contained no title, and that it contained no enacting clause.

Scientists Pleased With Solar Chase

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Delighted scientists drank champagne toasts to the successful airborne chase of an eclipse of the sun, which they say is certain to yield new findings about the fiery orb.

"We expect to find all sorts of new things," said a beaming Dr. Arthur Cox, the expedition's leader, after the team of astronomers recorded the pearly white grandeur of the solar corona Monday.

The corona is the ring of hot gases that stream millions of miles out into space. Scientists hope that by studying it they can find clues to how the sun interacts with earth and interferes with man's activities.

Crowded into a converted Air Force cargo jet stuffed with 15 tons of scientific gear, the scientists, from the Los Alamos (N.M.) Scientific Laboratory, intercepted the eclipse 39,000 feet over the Arctic Circle northeast of ice-filled Hudson Bay in Canada's Northwest Territories.

As the shadow of the moon passing in front of the sun streaked southeastward at 1,000 miles an hour, the flying laboratory raced it, reaching 565 miles per hour. This gave the scientists a precious 116 additional seconds during which they could view the sun totally obscured and see the white corona etched against the blackness of space.

They kept their instruments in this path of "totality" for three minutes and 45 seconds, and the results, except for a few minor problems, delighted everyone.

When the sun vanished altogether at 3:42 p.m. EDT, the airplane's interior was almost as dark as night. Astronomers hovering over their telescopes and radiation-measuring devices used pencil flashlights to perform their duties.

Outside, the ground was obscured by a thick layer of clouds and the black, ovalshaped lunar shadow could be seen 50 miles in opposite directions, with fluffy clouds brightly lit by the sun beyond the shadow. The view was the most striking from the cockpit.

"Out in front of us after the eclipse passed us we could see this huge circular shadow 120 miles wide moving across the clouds below us. It was the most fantastic sight I've ever seen," said Maj. Dan Yergler, the pilot.

The PSC also set Oct. 12 for a hearing on regulations covering service provided by sewer utilities.

Actor Hopes To Make 'Significant' Films

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Black actor Raymond St. Jacques says he thinks "black people have seen enough of white people on the movie screen and now they would like to see some of their own heroes."

To meet the need the 6-foot-3 actor has formed a company to produce "films now — plays later" that has begun work on its first movie, "The Book of Numbers."

St. Jacques, who is the film's producer-director, says, "It's a story of the 1930s. It's about the black experience then. And it's about the numbers racket."

He says the aim of his firm is not only to develop and make movies but "to make them significant so they will relate to the black struggle in America. We also want them to instruct, to entertain, and to make a few dollars.

"There has been a rash of black films lately but many of them are rip-offs that lack taste and make no contribution. We must have films that have artistic merit, taste and significance."

St. Jacques, whose latest film appearance is in "Come Back Charleston Blue," has appeared in a wide variety of movies, stage plays, and television productions since "I saw a play when I was young and decided I wanted to act."

The 40-year-old actor says he got his first break in 1955 when he applied for a part in an off-Broadway play about the Korean War "and they told me there was nothing in it for blacks.

"I said, 'What are you talking about? It's about Korea isn't it? What about the black soldiers fighting over there?' So they hired me. At $35 a week. I was the only black in the play."

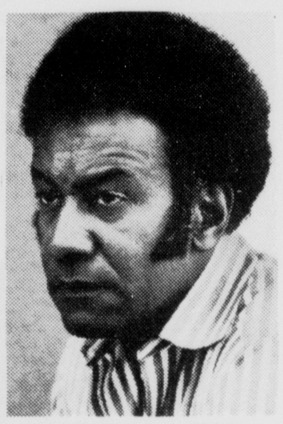
After that, he says, "I got fairly well established, I worked pretty steady, I eked out a living, and here I am."

St. Jacques feels that things "have been easing for black actors. You see more blacks in front of the camera now but not behind it. When we make our picture we plan to have an apprentice in each key department behind the camera. They will study behind-the-camera techniques, plus they will actually do."

While he thinks things are easing somewhat for blacks, St. Jacques adds that "it's still pretty hard for a black to get into acting, although not as hard as when I came up.

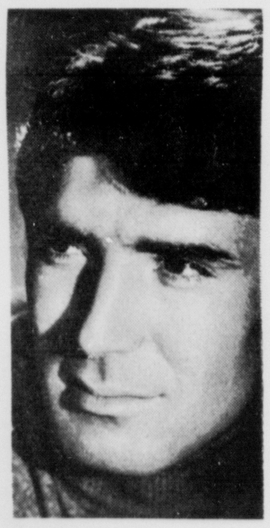
"If a young black asked me, I'd say 'forget it, get a degree, get a good job, and try acting as a hobby.'

"But, if you are masochistic and tenacious, then I'd urge you to get a good strong education in acting techniques. To dance, sing, read, write. Then you will have the resources to draw on that are necessary to recreate life."



RAYMOND ST. JACQUES

ALEX RICHMAN abandoned her classical piano training to invade the male world of rock music. Her new album, "Salty," indicates she's getting it together for a solid career.



TONY SCOTTI has not yet become a household word, in spite — or perhaps because—of his appearance in "Valley of the Dolls." But he says he still hopes to become a big name in acting.

MARS LANDING will be by specially designed parachute in the planned 1976 U.S. unmanned probe of the red planet's surface. Shown in artist's sketch, the 53-foot-diameter parachute and instrument payload will descend through the rarefied martian atmosphere, only 1/160th earth's atmospheric pressure after ejection from the spacecraft that carried them the millions of space miles from earth. Prototype parachutes, are being tested this summer in drops from 146,000-foot altitudes over White Sands Proving Ground in New Mexico.

THERE ARE men's fashions and then there are men's fashions. Actually, there's nothing new here. Knee pants and tails have been in for a long time for those, such as Britain's Prince Philip photographed at a Buckingham Palace state banquet, required to cut a royal figure.
